Ike Promises:

Asian Deals Barred

Congress Told Commitments Are Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported to have assured congressional leaders Tuesday he will make no commitments on Asia at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

Three legislators who sat in on a White House briefing said the President made it clear he was not going to deal substantively with Asiatic problems in a meeting in which Asians themselves were not represented.

From the legislators came this additional outline of American plans for Eisenhower's meeting with the prime minsters of Britain, France and Russia, beginning at Geneva next Monday:

1. The President will bring up the question of disarmament, insisting that it can be accomplished only by adequate, open and complete policing and inspection.

Final Solution

2. The United States will take the initiative in proposing that steps be taken looking toward unification of Germany.

3. Eisenhower will attempt to keep before the conference constantly the issue of self-determination for the peoples of the satellite states.

4. He does not expect the meeting to produce any final solution to existing problems but hopes it may bring some new approaches to those problems as well as a new spirit of co-operation.

The President was said to have outlined his position on Asiatic problems in response to a question by Sen. Clements of Kentucky, the acting Democratic leader.

As one lawmaker summed it up, the President said he was not going to Geneva with the aim of discussing Far Eastern problems. He would not agree, the President was quoted as saying, to take any steps that would involve the fate of non-participating nations.

However some officials have indicated that if the Russians insist on bringing up Far East issues, the United States would be ready to discuss them.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), who attended the White House briefing, said at least 20 issues were mentioned as likely to come up.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said "the sky's the limit."

Wiley offered this impression of Eisenhower's purpose:

"The President is going on an exploratory expedition, so to speak, to find out if there has been a rebirth on the part of the Russians."

AEC Says Cut Won't Affect State's Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said late Tuesday that the cuts made by the House Appropriations Committee in AEC funds would probably have no effect on the pending application of Consumers Public Power District of Nebraska for an atomic power plant.

The AEC spokesman said that since no action has yet been taken on the Consumers request, no appropriation had been requested for a plant in Nebraska. He added that should the Nebraska plant be approved by AEC, there is money available in AEC's operating budget for research and development which might be used to cover the project.

The AEC added, however, that it will not know until the budget is completed whether any money might be available for construction of a Nebraska plant.

In Lincoln Tuesday, Ray Schacht, manager of Consumers, said he had received no information concerning the future of the proposed atomic power plant to be built by Consumers.

Plans For Federal Aid On Polio Shots Step Up

Government Releases 720,000 Injections Of Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for federal aid in vaccinating the nation's youngsters against polio jumped ahead Tuesday as the government released another 720,000 shots of Salk vaccine.

By unanimous votes, both the House Commerce and Senate Labor Committees approved differing measures aimed at providing free injections for children under 20 and for pregnant women.

Just who in these groups would benefit would be up to the states. It could be everyone.

Backers of the bills said that if Congress goes along and no further kinks develop some state inoculation programs should get under way this fall. They said extra shots beyond the supply needed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis should become available then.

The fall months—at the end of the polio season—are regarded as a good time to start a three-shot Salk series because inoculation could be completed before the next epidemic season sets in.

The vaccine released Tuesday raised to 2,558,000 cubic centimeters the quantity okayed since new and stiffer testing standards were adopted May 26. Each c. c. represents one shot.

The U. S. Public Health Service said the 720,000 shots just approved were made by the Eli Lilly Co. of Indianapolis and would go to the national foundation for its program of free inoculation of first and second-grade school children.

Ruling Prohibits Charge Of Escape

The attorney general's office ruled Tuesday that when a patient leaves a state mental hospital without authorization after dismissal of a felony charge against him, he cannot be charged with escape.

However, the opinion stated, he can be charged with escape if the felony charge has not been dismissed.

But it pointed out that insanity is recognized as a defense in a criminal case, if at the time of the commission of the offense the accused does not know right from wrong in respect to the act involved in the offense.

Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele said one of the cases which caused him to ask the ruling involves a man committed to the State Hospital by the Lancaster County Board of Mental Health just prior to his trial on charges of statutory rape incest.

The criminal charges were dismissed and about a week later the man walked away from the hospital and is still at large.

Gallows Ready, Ruth Ellis Breaks Silence; Says 'I Don't Want To Die'

LONDON (Wednesday) (INS)—Platinum blonde Ruth Ellis, who faces death on the gallows in a few hours, was reported early today to have ended her long silence about the shooting of her lover.

The London Daily Mail reported that the pretty, 28-year-old mother broke down during the last meeting with her family yesterday and asserted she was "drunk" when she shot racing car driver David Blakely.

Throughout her trial she had been cold and unemotional, saying she wanted to be with her lover in death.

The Daily Mail quoted Mrs. Ellis as saying that the gun she used to kill Blakely, 25, was loaded for her by a man who gave her the gun. The man was not identified.

After her statement was made, Scotland Yard sent officers to the man's home.

The confessed slayer, mother of two children, reportedly broke her silence after persistent questioning by her brother, Granville Neilson, 32. According to the newspaper he asked her: "Do you really want to go this way?"

Her reply was:

"I can expect nothing else. Frankly I couldn't care less.'

Mrs. Ellis then was escorted to her cell by two wardresses and was said to have collapsed on her bed crying: "I don't want to die."

Shortly after their last meeting, Neilson discussed Mrs. Ellis' last-minute revelations with the home secretary's senior advisors. Describing his last meeting with his sister Neilson said:

"Ruth remained calm throughout our last meeting. She appeared untroubled. We stayed together for 30 minutes but much time was spent in silence."

Miscarriage

Earlier it was disclosed that Frank Owen, a journalist and former M.P., sent a telegram to the home secretary making a plea for mercy for Mrs. Ellis on the grounds that "her mind was unhinged because she had a miscarriage three days before murdering her lover."

William Griffin, who organized the petitions for the reprieve of Mrs. Ellis, disclosed that Frank Owen has begged the home secretary to grant a last moment decision of mercy.

Police reinforcements were sent to Holloway Prison where a crowd of 500 persons, mostly women, had gathered outside the main gate.

Police moved the crowd to a sidewalk opposite the jail after a number of demonstrators knocked on the prison door demanding to see the doomed woman. They said they wanted her to "kneel in prayer with them."

The gallows were tested earlier with dummy sandbags for the execution, which is set for this morning.

Power Probe Balks

SEC Chief Mum On White House 'Influence'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Securities & Exchange Commission was threatened with possible prosecution for contempt of Congress Tuesday in connection with the Dixon-Yates row.

The possibility was raised by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), after SEC Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong refused to testify whether his agency was free from White House "influence" in handling financial aspects of the Dixon-Yates private power contract.

But Armstrong stood firm on a declaration that he couldn't discuss the question because of a standing presidential order not to disclose confidential exchanges between executive departments of the government.

"I don't mean to imply by asserting privilege that there were any such communications," Armstrong told a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee headed by Kefauver.

'Fair Agreement'

President Eisenhower ordered the controversial Dixon-Yates contract cancelled Monday after receiving assurances from the city of Memphis that it would build a generating plant to supply the electricity the federal government had ordered from the private interests.

Eisenhower was reported Tuesday to have described the contract as "a good fair agreement." Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said the President used the phrase in a talk with magnates with whom the contract was negotiated.

Eisenhower called Dixon in, Snyder said, to express his appreciation "for the fine spirit and cooperation with the government" Dixon and his associates demonstrated "through the proceedings designed to provide needed power for the Memphis area."

At the Senate hearing, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) complained "an iron curtain is being erected between Congress and the SEC."

Armstrong's refusal to answer questions, he asserted, is "another instance of the gradual attempt of the executive branch to extend power over the whole government of the United States.

Edgar Voters OK School Bond Issue

Lincoln Star Special

EDGAR, Neb. — A good-sized number of voters turned out here Tuesday to approve a $29,000 school bond issue. The proposal won by a vote of 186 for to 77 against.

The funds will be used for the addition to the Edgar school of a building to house a modern farm shop and lunch program.

"We were pleased with the large majority favoring the issue," declared Wayne Hunter, secretary of the Board of Education.

This was the first time the issue had been placed before the voters.

Farm Leaders Pledge 'Open Eyes' As They Leave For Tour Of Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen U.S. farm leaders who are going to visit Russia said Tuesday they will keep their minds and eyes open and "our ears unplugged."

Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of agriculture at the University of Nebraska, told newsmen the 12-man delegation has 10 principal objectives. He said it has no preconcieved ideas of what to expect.

(The Russian group of 13 farm leaders, led by First Deputy Minister of Agriculture Vladimir V. Matskevich, left Moscow by air Tuesday for the United States. The group is expected in New York Sunday, and Monday will begin a tour of Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and California.)

Lambert, head of the American group, told reporters the delegation had decided to "keep an open mind, as well as keeping its eyes open and its ears unplugged."

One of the group, farmer Herbert W. Pike, of Whiting, Iowa, said he was going to learn and not to teach.

"Whenever I go to some one else's farm, I go to learn. The host teaches and the visitor learns," he said.

"I only knew one farmer who knew all he needed to know, and you wouldn't like him."

Lambert said, as far as he knows, there is no restriction on where the Americans might go in Russia. He said the U. S. Embassy at Moscow is detailing Horace Davis, its agricultural attache, to the group as an interpreter. But he said a member of the group, J. M. Kleiner, Idaho, farm products distributor, is a native of Russia who speaks the language. Kleiner was naturalized a U. S. citizen in 1922.

Lambert said the 10 principal objectives of the group include:

1. Evaluate Soviet progress in agriculture generally.
2. Evaluate Soviet farm techniques and potentials.
3. Observe recent Soviet developments in agricultural education.
4. Observe agricultural research.
5. Find out how the Soviet government keeps farmers informed—whether through an extension service like the American way or through some other method.
6. Study marketing systems.
7. See some Russian people and let them talk with a representative American agricultural group.
8. Get acquainted with Russian farmers and agriculture.
9. Show the Russian people the United States is ready to cooperate with any people to raise living standards.
10. Possibly plant "a few seeds of understanding and good will" to help relieve international tensions.

Tot-Killer Hunted; Fremont Girl Beaten

FBI GETS 'JOHN DOE' WARRANT

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and local police pursued meager clues Tuesday in the abduction-slaying of Donna Sue Davis, 2, and the FBI issued a "John Doe" warrant for the kidnaper's arrest.

The raped body of the blue-eyed child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of Sioux City, was found late Monday afternoon in a farm field near South Sioux City, Neb., just across the Missouri River from Sioux City.

The tiny girl, snatched from her crib within minutes after her mother had tucked her into bed Sunday night, had been beaten savagely about the head. Coroner Thomas L. Coriden said that caused her death.

6 FBI Agents

Six FBI agents under the direction of Joseph Thornton, special agent in charge of the Omaha office, arrived in Sioux City to take charge of the investigation.

The officers explained that a "John Doe" warrant enables any law officer anywhere in the country to arrest any suspect and hold him for the FBI.

In Sioux City, several men have been questioned since the abduction but police reported no solid developments from this activity.

Among clues on which authorities were working was a set of fingerprints taken from a cedar chest in Donna Sue's bedroom and another set of partial prints found on the frame of the screen on the bedroom window. Officers said the kidnaper entered the room and left it through the window.

Detective Lt. Toas Warnstadt said that "sheer sadism" seemed the only motive for the crime. No demand for ransom ever was made. The Davises received no word of any kind from the abductor.

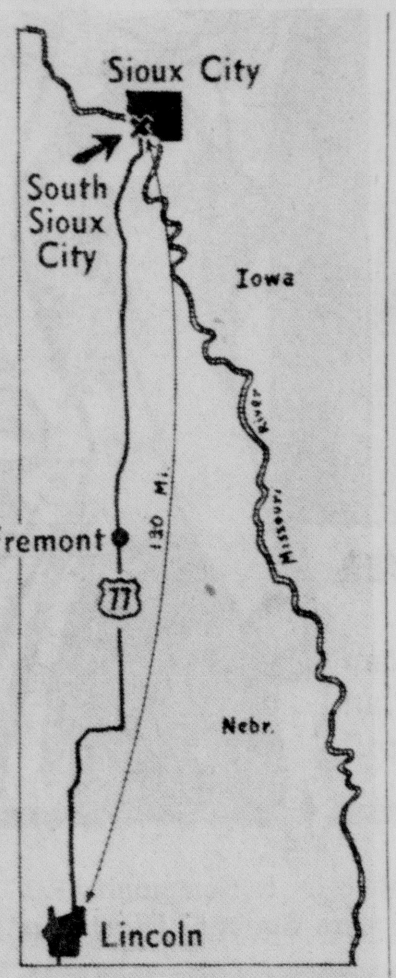
The detective lieutenant added that it appeared the kidnaper picked Donna Sue as a victim "by sheer coincidence that he apparently prowled by at a time when the child was being put to bed. It was a hot night and the shade was up."

Police and the FBI were continuing to check on all known sex deviates in the area.

Meanwile, the grief-stricken parents continued with plans for a funeral for Donna Wednesday. A neighbor who spent the night at the Davis home said they were "taking it very hard."

Community feeling was running high and incensed residents flooded police and city officials, with calls.

Many families, fearful that the kidnaper might strike again, kept yard and house lights burning through the night. Hardware stores reported they had a heavy run on door locks.



Sioux City Nearby

Highway 77 ,which runs through Fremont, is one of the main routes used to reach Sioux City, Ia., some 68 miles to the north. The location of the two towns caused authorities to believe there might be a connection between the slaying of a Sioux City tot and the attack on a Fremont girl. (Star Map.)

BOY ADMITS ATTACK ON 4-YR.-OLD

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — Fremont Police Chief Robert Millard said Tuesday night a 13-year-old Fremont children's home inmate had admitted attacking Susan Cline, 4, in a wooded Fremont park Tuesday, breaking her leg, choking and scratching her.

Chief Millard identified the youth as Harry Avery. The boy is held in the county jail for action under Nebraska's juvenile laws.

The boy was picked up, the chief said, after Susan had tearfully kept insisting at the hospital here that she had been victimized by a boy "on a green bicycle." Avery has a green and white bicycle and Millard said the boy came under suspicion because of previous troubles he had been in.

Started 'Wrestling'

Chief Millard said the boy told of picking Susan up when she strayed from the Dale Cline home, carrying her into the wooded park and then starting to "wrestle with her." The chief said the girl's leg apparently was broken in the wrestling that preceded the choking of the tot.

Avery was quoted by the chief as saying he then became scared grabbed the girl's underclothing that had been ripped off and ran.

'Big Boy'

Susan told authorities a "big boy" dragged her into the bushes after she had gone to the park against a warning by her parents not to venture beyond home. Then, she said, she was knocked down and partially disrobed. Her panties were found several blocks away.

She was found by Mrs. Walter Peterson, a neighbor of the Dale Cline family, who investigated after hearing screams from the park. Police had probed the possibility of a link-up between the attack and the slaying of kidnaped Donna Sue Davis, 21-months old, of Sioux City but said they had no evidence pointing to a connection.

Held In Philly Murder

Pair Who Flashed Roll Of Bills Jailed

NABBED IN OMAHA

From Press Dispatches

OMAHA, Neb.— Slippery Frank Ellsworth and an ex-con pal were back in the hands of the law Tuesday night, just shortly after being released from jail in Las Vegas, Nev.

Originally picked up in Las Vegas because of the suspicious way they were flashing rolls of $100 bills, Ellsworth, of Omaha, and Ray Wilson, were arrested in connection with the murder of wealthy Mrs. Lulubel Hagar Rossman in Philadelphia.

Ellsworth was picked up in Omaha Tuesday night where he had returned after being released on a writ of habeas corpus in Las Vegas. Wilson was arrested in Las Vegas within a half hour after he, too, had been released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Numbers Close

From Philadelphis police came word that serial numbers of the $100 bills led to the issuing of warrants for the pair's arrest.

Chief inspector John J. Kelly announced that the serial numbers approximated the numbers of $100 bills found in Mrs. Rossman's safety deposit box.

Another report said that Philadelphia police believed Mrs. Rossman had been robbed of $86,000 at the time of her murder. Ellsworth and Wilson had $87,000, mostly in $100 bills, at the time of their first arrest in Las Vegas.

Mrs. Rossman, a widow, was strangled to death in her suite at a midtown hotel in Philadelphia. She had lived at the hotel since the death of her husband two years ago. Her body was discovered July 4.

The arrests of Ellsworth and Wilson on the Philadelphia warrants had an almost detective story quality.

Philadelphia police announced late Tuesday that the pair were wanted, but told the press at that time "they may be in Mexico by this time."

However, shortly after that Wilson was arrested, only half an hour after his release from a Las Vegas jail.

Seen Earlier

And in Omaha, police reported Tuesday they had seen Ellsworth in town, but had taken no action because he was not wanted anywhere for anything

Later, after press services reported Ellsworth wanted in the Philadelphia case, the Omaha police picked up the man.

The two men's first arrest in Las Vegas occurred after gambling house attendants reported they were acting suspiciously. They said the pair we.re buying chips with $100 bills, betting on a few rolls of dice, and then cashing the chips for currency.

7 Lads Swept To Death In Avalanche

Canadian Slide Claims Teen-Agers

BANFF, Alta. (AP) — Seven American boys were swept to their deaths in an avalanche of snow near the peak of one of the Canadian Rockies. Their broken bodies were brought Tuesday night to this famed scenic resort.

Six of the teen-agers were from Eastern U.S. cities and the seventh from St. Louis. They were caught by the avalanche after reaching within 2,000 feet of the summit of 11,636-foot Mt. Temple.

Two other boys in the party, an 11-member group sponsored by the Wilderness Club of Philadelphia, were seriously injured. Two more escaped with bruises.

Terror-Filled Seconds

One of the survivors, Tony Woodfield, 16, of Philadelphia, trembled as he told the story of the terror-filled seconds when hundreds of tons of powdery snow tumbled from the peak and swept upon his companions.

"I heard Watts (William Watts, 16, of Whitemarsh, Pa.) crying under the snow," he said. "I used my shoe to dig him out and got everything but one leg."

Only one of the boys was killed instantly. But Watts and the five others died of injuries and exposure in a freezing rain and hail that swept the mountain. Rescue came too late.

The boys had reached a point between 9,500 and 10,000 feet when they decided to turn back. As they started down, the mass of snow roared upon them, tossing them 1,000 feet.

One of Most Difficult

Although Mt. Temple is listed as one of the most difficult climbs in the Canadian Rockies, only Woodfield had had much Alpine experience. He was the anchor man. The group tackled the peak wearing ordinary boots or spiked baseball and track shoes. They were equipped only with an inch-thick Manila rope and ice axes.

A Banff Park official said none of the National Park authorities knew of the boys' plan to attempt the climb. Four Mexican mountaineers were killed last fall in a similar accident only 4½ miles from the scene of the latest tragedy.

The dead were:

Richard and James Balis, 13-year-old twins, Philadelphia; William Wise, 15, Souderton, Pa.; William Watts, 16, Whitemarsh, Pa.; Miles Mable, 12, Collegeville, Pa.; David Chapin, 15, Stamford, Conn.; and Luther Seddon, 13, St. Louis.

In Banff Hospital are Frederick Ballard, 13, Philadelphia, and Theodore Clattenburg, 14, Philadelphia.

Peter Smith, 13, of Paoli, Pa., and Tony Woodfield, 16, Philadelphia, were the only two in the group of 11 who escaped unharmed. They rushed back to their base in the Moraine Lake camping grounds to give the alarm.

MRS. STAMPSAVER SEZ:
"The Community Stamp Plan is the Modern Plan for Modern Shoppers."

Ever wonder why people refer to Community Savings Stamps as the Modern Stamps? Here's just a few of the reasons:

1. Community Savings Stamps are a local stamp plan. This means that every local merchant that gives these stamps also redeems them. You don't have to drive to another town or mail filled books to a central premium depot—your local merchant's entire store is your premium department.
2. Each filled book is worth $2.50 in merchandise of your choice or $2.00 in cash. You're not restricted to a premium list.
3. Community Stamps are backed by a 100 percent reserve redemption fund. What other stamp company can make that statement?

So the next time you shop, look for the merchants who give and redeem these modern stamps, Community Savings Stamps, the stamp designed with the modern shopper in mind.

More Trouble Looming For Jail Prisoner

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Richard Buckley, 23, Jefferson County jail prisoner who escaped and later was recaptured, is getting into more hot water, according to Police Chief Joe Cook.

Cook said that following a tip, officers found two revolvers which allegedly belong to Buckley hidden in a south Fairbury house. Cook said Buckley admitted bringing the guns from Chicago with him.

Later, under the Blue River bridge, officers found a cardboard box containing several hundred blank payroll checks, two check protectors and other papers. The checks were from several Illinois and Chicago firms, Cook said, and some of them were forged with one of Buckley's aliases.

Tuesday afternoon the FBI began questioning Buckley concerning his activities. The prisoner is awaiting appearance in District Court on charges of jail breaking.

Pinch Hits Germany's Prosperity

Bottlenecks, Labor Shortages Found

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany is so prosperous that bottlenecks are developing in some industries. Labor shortages are showing up.

But prices are steady and there are few indications of inflation. The cost of living has been stable for four years.

The basic industries—steel, coal, heavy chemicals and electric power—are working at capacity.

Orders Up 25 Per Cent

Orders received by manufacturers are running 25 per cent above a year ago. Export orders are 33 per cent higher.

West German automobile production jumped to 490,000 during the first six months of this year compared with 410,000 for the same period of 1954.

Shipbuilding likewise is booming. The yards turned out 490,000 tons of new ships from January to July compared with 410,000 for this period last year.

The manpower situation is tightening. Employment has reached a new high of over 17 million persons or one million more than a year ago. Italian workers are being imported.

COURT DENIES NEW TRIAL FOR DR. SHEPPARD

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three judges Tuesday denied an appeal by Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard for a new trial. They held the 31-year-old osteopath's conviction for the murder of his pregnant wife ended "a fair trial" and that "there was sufficient evidence to support" the jury verdict.

"I have no comment," Sheppard told county jailer Michael Uccello when the official handed him written questions from newsmen. Sheppard had been asleep on his cell cot when Uccello brought him the news, and he relaxed on the cot again after receiving it.

The defeat does not mean an end to Sheppard's battle to upset his conviction.

The Appellate Court still has to rule on another new trial motion based on what the defense claims is newly-discovered evidence. But in rejecting a new trial Tuesday on contentions of error, the appellate judges left little reason for Sheppard to hope they would grant him a new trial later.

Police Await Extradition Of Jackson

Lincoln police were awaiting word Tuesday night on whether or not Charles William Jackson, 27, charged here with burglary of the Moose Lodge on June 7, will waive extradition from Missouri.

Jackson was picked up by St. Louis police while loitering on a downtown street.

Gene Masters, assistant chief in Lincoln, said Jackson was being questioned in St. Louis about a wallet in his possession belonging to another man.

A burglary charge was filed against Thomas Tippery, 37, of 2300 So. 37th, in connection with the same break-in at the lodge, at 6007 Havelock. Tippery pleaded innocent in County Court and was bound over to District Court for trial.

Tippery was shot by a Lincoln policeman in back of the Lodge shortly after police got a report the building was being burglarized.

Wartime Nazi Offer Of One Million Lives For 10,000 Trucks Is Revealed

Premier Sharett Gives Details

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, (AP) — Premier Moshe Sharett Tuesday disclosed details of a wartime Nazi offer to trade the lives of a million Hungarian Jews for 10,000 trucks to bolster Hitler's crumbling defense.

The offer was presented to the Jewish Agency during World War II by an emissary of Wilhelm Eichmann, a Nazi storm troop leader. It was turned down by the Allies, the only source from which the Jews could have gotten that many trucks.

Sharett's disclosures were made in a statement issued to newspapers denying charges made by the Tel Aviv newspaper Haboker that he had concealed from Palestine Jews and the world at large for two months the facts surrounding the systematic destruction of Hungarian Jewry by the Nazis.

The newspaper is an organ of the General Zionist party, which was expelled from Sharett's governing coalition last month as a result of a legal dispute growing out of the Kastner case. The government has appealed a recent decision by the Jerusalem District Court which implied that Dr. Rudolf Kastner, head of the Jewish Rescue Committee in Budapest during the Nazi occupation, had collaborated with the Germans.

Sharett was wartime political secretary of the Jewish Agency—the political organization of world Jewry before Israel became independent. In his statement, he said Eichmann's offer to save the million Jews—already marked for the gas chambers—was presented to him in Aleppo by an emissary.

The Premier said the news of the danger threatening the Hungarian Jews was given the widest possible publicity by the agency, but Eichmann's "satanic suggestion of goods for blood" was kept secret at the time.

This was done, he added, in hope of extracting from it what chance there might be of saving the threatened Hungarians, or at least postponing the massacre by giving the enemy false hope.

Asserting that he and his colleagues in the agency had done everything possible to arouse the world concerning the fate of the Hungarian Jews, Sharett recalled that there were mass protest meetings in Palestine at the time.

A one-day general strike also was called throughout the country, which was then ruled by the British. A general fast was proclaimed by the chief rabbinate, special prayers were said in all synagogues and an appeal was broadcast to the Allies to "stop this slaughter."

In hopes of saving the Hungarians, Sharett said he flew to London a few days after receiving the Nazi offer to try to talk the Allies into sending a parachute trooper force into Hungary.

In its judgment in the Kastner case, the court said the Allies "rejected Eichmann's offer . . . this could have been expected."

This decision was handed down on June 22 in the year-long libel trial of Malkiel Greenwald, who charged that Kastner prepared the ground for the mass murder of Hungarian Jewry.

Greenwald was acquitted on three charges of libel but convicted on the fourth for saying that Kastner had "shared loot" with the Nazis. The court ordered him fined one Israeli pound (56 cents).

Alien Plan Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed into law a bill continuing for two years an experiment in recruiting aliens into the Army with ultimate U.S. citizenship or residence as a reward.

The law, first passed in 1950, authorized the recruiting of 2,500, and this ceiling later was boosted to 12,500. However, the Senate Armed Services Committee said only 866 aliens have been recruited under it.

Volunteer Glantz Wielding A Hammer

Volunteer Worker Builds Pinewood Dressing Room

When feminine members of the cast of "The New Moon" step into the new ladies dressing room at Pinewood Bowl, they can thank a volunteer worker that the dressing room is there.

Wallace Glantz, of the Lincoln Air Force Base, has planned and constructed the building, with other volunteer help, to save on the cost for the Singfest Committee, which manages the bowl.

Glantz started last January by meeting with experts on what should be included in a modern dressing room. During the spring he contacted dealers who co-operated by donating and cutting prices on construction supplies.

Working evenings on the structure Glantz was joined by some other volunteers and by a group of boys from the State Reformatory, which gave a revue at the bowl this spring. A Lincolnite anonymously donated $1,000 for the project.

The structure is built on a 68-foot concrete foundation, with an eight-foot slab at the front to be used for scene painting. The area will be an artist's workshop and storage space, the women's dressing area with a makeup island down the center, washroom and closet, and four individual dressing rooms to be curtained off at the rear.

Man Admits Rape Slaying Of Girl, Baby

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — A 26-year-old mother and her 19-month-old daughter were found murdered in their apartment Tuesday, and police said the husband's brother had admitted raping, beating and strangling them.

Police said Joseph Reade, 26, an unemployed taxi driver, had signed a statement admitting that he killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Beverly Reade, and little Cheryl Lynn Reade.

Their nude bodies were found by Mrs. Reade's husband, Francis, 24, when he returned home from his night-shift factory job in this southwestern New York furniture city.

Sidney T. Hewes, assistant Chautauqua County district attorney, said Joseph Reade would be charged with first-degree murder.

Not So Badly Off

There is no use trying to conceal the fact. The weather is hot in Nebraska.

Not many really relish heat when it gets up around 100 degrees.

But there are some compensating factors. Nebraskans don't have to swelter in misery and deny it to the world. They can complain about it loudly and not worry for fear of hurting the tourist crop. It must be mighty frustrating in the regions that sell climate where the natives perforce must keep their mouths shut, too much of the time.

Then there is compensation in the knowledge that the summer's usually brief spell of torrid weather is busier making good crops than in harrying citizens. This year seems to be no exception. The weekly federal crop report painted a bright picture—moisture ample—fine weather for corn—wheat in bumper harvest.

And there is one thing about it. The heat will soon pass away and be forgotten. But the results of the harvest will remain with us for ever so long.

We Must Face Facts

The dreadful, sickening facts connected with mistreatment and murder of Sioux City's 2-year-old, innocent, and sweet little Donna Sue Davis are hard to take.

Whatever arguments may be advanced to lighten the hand of justice on the degenerate who committed the acts, whatever appeal there may be to a high-minded society that seeks to rehabilitate rather than to punish, they are all tried to the breaking point as one contemplates the realities of this case.

The killer himself denies the arguments of clemency and rehabilitation and does not extend them to his victim. He remains the same dangerous degenerate and walks with his redeemers only when it will help him save his own hide.

No sensitive, civilized person will say that therapy and charity should not be extended to the weak or misguided for the prevention of injury to them and to others. But there is a time, too, to turn from the total consideration of the still living killer and spend some understanding thought on the victim who is no longer here.

The news of late is far too full of dreadful crime. The sad and unwanted facts tell us only that here is a social problem that is a sick one, urgently demanding rationalization.

Public Decision

President Eisenhower's statement of intention Monday to cancel out the Dixon-Yates contract concludes a dramatic chapter in the controversial exposition of public versus private power. But it did not close the subject.

The contract represented the present administration's leanings toward the side of private power, expressed in a detemination to halt further expansion of TVA steam-generating facilities and call upon private power to furnish the additional electric power TVA currently needs.

It can be said that the terms of the agreement pitched off the year-long controversy over the administration's action. But if the administration miscalculated on them, it also miscalculated what it believed was a public readiness to curb or eliminate public power in general and TVA in particular.

While the admnistration is expressing pleasure over developments it says has made the Dixon-Yates contract unnecessary, and while congressional opponents of the contract are expressing conviction that their efforts stopped the deal, there is, in fact, no evidence of a clearcut victory.

The 60,000 kw of addiitonal power needed by the TVA system which suggested the contract with private power in the first place is now to be produced by the City of Memphis, Tenn. This fact does not lend support to claims that the Dixon-Yates cancellation marks an administration retreat from the position that TVA has had it when it comes to any further expansion of steam-generating facilities.

But there is evidence of a strong third force—the public. The administration's case in behalf of Dixon-Yates simply wasn't good enough and the administration prudently backed away.

The Tennessee Valley Authority has no green light when it comes to generating more power for its still growing demand. Its future is still another story. But it cannot be gainsaid that that administration's awareness of misdirection in its entire field of action in the management and disposal of the nation's resources, evidenced by its reversal in the Dixon-Yates matter, should bring about new thinking and less inclination to get rid of public responsibilities so light-heartedly.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif.—This, dear reader, begins with a shame-faced confession. We should have been more alert late last week end. We were caught flat-footed. When the family suggested that a shopping trip had been planned for the day, it was fair warning of what was to come. Now we can tell you of high adventure on U.S. Highway 101, known to many Nebraskans as the Pacific Coast Highway. It is a four-lane job most if not all of its length. It recognizes different speed zones in generous spirit and if our preliminary exploration meant anything at all, it tolerates uncountable interpretations of traffic regulations.

Into The Wild Blue Yonder

So off into the "wild blue yonder" we set forth. At the first turn, my suspicions were aroused. The Little Woman spoke something about a couple of cute little pigeons she had seen. She explained that they were at a pottery shop we had just passed. To me it looked like a frowsy little dump . . . to the family, it was paradise. Soon the painful business was over and out we started again. "Lord grab us by the hand! What was that!" A small, bright-eyed woman riding in one of those stupid little cars you see so frequently around Long Beach and wearing a bobbing, saucy little bonnet came bouncing along, one eye on the sidewalk and the other on the coastal highway. Cars in front of us! Cars to the rear of us! Cars to the right and left of us, tooting and screeching! Ours not to reason why—ours but to do or die. It was "do" that we did, which explains why we are still among the living.

We came to a new speed zone. Boy, were we chugging along! Just then the Little Woman spoke again. "I want to stop at an antique shop I saw two days ago," she explained. That was some miles back, the driver told her. So we headed in the opposite direction. "You don't need to go in," I was told. That's how we came to park alongside U.S. Highway 101 for a couple of hours, hat pulled down over the eyes to shade us from the glare as fancy jobs, trucks and what-not roared by in a perpetual stream and in seeming disregard for each other.

A Glimpse Of The Future

What was that ugly, beetle-browed truck coming over the hill at breakneck speed? It looked real and yet it looked like something out of this world. It ate up miles with incredible speed. It seemed so blithe, so unconcerned. As it came nearer, even the hood had a sinister look. And upon closer scrutiny at the interior, it appeared that the body was built specifically to haul thousands of bottles of sparkling water—and we don't mean the Pacific, either. Well, all things must end and this green truck ended its forward motion on Highway 101 nearly opposite us on the road, waiting until such time that it could nose into the reverse traffic and be about its business. Which it did with a grace and a freedom born of long experience. We started shortly afterwards, homeward bound now. What was that new, strange apparition bearing down upon us, bobbing hat and all? It was the little old lady and her pushcart—in actual appearance not unlike a motorized bathtub. A wave of the hand and she turned off at the corner. Upon inquiry we were told that nothing unusual happened on U.S. Highway 101 last Friday. But so far as we were concerned, we tasted of high adventure sufficiently to last for a lifetime. One has not lived, we were about to observe, until one tries the traffic on a busy morning.

We can still see that green truck and the little old lady with her motorized pushcart. Without them California would not be California — and U.S. Highway, only another highway.

Red Davy Crockett

Russia is coming out with a Davy Crockett of its own, we learn. It is ever on its toes to keep abreast of we decadent capitalists who in spite of our rapid demise keep coming up with enviable things, post humous, we presume. Only the Russian Crockett will not wear a fur hat nor defend any Alamos. His name will be Ilya Muromets, king of the wild something or other. He will wear an onion-domed tin helmet and act more like our Paul Bunyan. Our guess is that the Kremlin crowd will ultimately have to liquidate him. He sounds too much like an individualist.

Segni At The Helm

The Italian government is back in business again after a change of premiers. Mario Scelba, who could not hold together the warring elements of his Christian Democrat party, is gone. A Scardinian, Antonio Segni, has taken over the helm.

The Communists played the fringes and gained nothing at the outset, at least, from the upheaval. Segni in his past actions and attitudes has been a staunch supporter of the West and is known for his forthright position favoring land reform. In Italy the latter has always been a strong lever for the Reds. A measure of success by the Segni government would take away much of that power.

The Chicago Daily News describes Segni as one whose political experience reaches back to the years when he was a focus of opposition to Mussolini's fascism and adds that he is a driving leader of sharp wit.

All this sounds good to Western ears. But there are other facts advising reasonable caution. The coalition behind Segni is a wobbly one and a premier in Italy frequently finds his thin command frustrating to his efforts to carry out his policies.

A Paradox

A bill to grant home rule to the District of Columbia has been introduced in the House and is waiting for action.

It is one of the paradoxes of a world-leading democratic nation that the citizens residing at the national capital do not enjoy the basic rights their government exists to guarantee. Yet the right of self government and even the right to participate in elections for the residents have never aroused strong support among the citizens elsewhere. Earlier attempts to change the political conditions at Washington have met with failure. What the fate of this newest effort is to be remains to be seen. But if the past is an index to the future the prospects are not too bright.

McCarthyism Is Still In Business

WASHINGTON — Sen. McCarthy recently was given a crushing 77-to-4 defeat in his efforts to hamstring and embarrass Ike at the Big Four conference, but the friends and isms he trained and fostered are a long way from dead in the nation's capital.

Here are three quick news shots which indicate how McCarthyism still thrives in the following places:

1. Right inside the White House —McCarthy's closest congressional friend, ex-Congressman Charles Kersten of Wisconsin, has just been appointed a White House aide at $50 a day.

Kersten, a Republican, was defeated for re-election last fall in the wave of anti-McCarthyism that swept some parts of Wisconsin, and since then has been looking for a job. First he applied to the State Department, but got nowhere.

Now, strangely, he has turned up as $50-a-day adviser to the White House on the direct staff of Nelson Rockefeller, in charge of Eisenhower's psychological warfare, Rockefeller has vigorously opposed McCarthy and all he stood for, and White House insiders say he didn't want to take on the strong McCarthy supporter. However, it was considered good political strategy.

Kersten is the man who brought the quickie divorce case of Kordas vs Kordas before McCarthy when he was a local Wisconsin judge.

2. Inside the Small business administration — The other day Wendell Barnes, a large and perspiring gentleman from Tulsa, Okla., who's now head of the Small Business Administration, was being cross-examined by the Senate Civil Service Committee, busy of late delving into the so-called security risks fired by Eisenhower and the somethines high-handed manner in which they were fired.

"What is the address of George V. McDavitt?" Barnes was asked.

"Do I have to answer?" the large man from Oklahoma looked almost beseechingly at Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, who presided.

"You were asked the question," replied Chairman Johnston.

Barnes reached into his hip-pocket. His hand shook as he pulled out a notebook with the address of George McDavitt at 2101 S. Street in Washington.

McDavitt is the chief security officer of the Small Business Administration who, it was claimed, was firing civil service employees as security risks in Nazi fashion merely because he wanted to make room for political friends. His address — which may explain why Barnes was so reluctant to reveal it — was the building owned by the famous American Fascist and anti-semite, Allen Zoll.

Zoll is founder of the American Patriots, listed on the attorney general's list of subservsives as fascist, and the fact that the security officer charged with scrutinizing alleged security risks in the small business administration appeared to be on good terms with Zoll disturbed the senators — as it did also Barnes.

Tragedy Of Denial To A Lonely Child

You can see tragedy from a front porch, sometimes.

There is the little boy who comes to visit across the street. I do not know his name; I have never spoken to him. I have only watched him while we seek coolness on our front porch. And we have talked briefly about him to his elderly aunt and uncle, the ones who live across the street.

Just to say that we noticed him playing. There is not much more one can say, under the circumstances.

There is something appealing about most boys his age, which is eight or nine. You can grin when you watch them playing, or just being awkward, and you can enjoy their games right along with them, even though you are across the street, and only watching. He isn't like that. You don't feel any appeal. You don't feel like grinning.

Honestly, I do not know what it is that makes you feel about him the way you do. He is a little thin, and a little stooped in the shoulders, but a lot of boys are that way and still they make you happy, watching them. Maybe it is that he doesn't ever seem to laugh. Nor to have any playmates. He dodges behind cars when people come down the sidewalk, and peers out at them after they're past. He runs into his uncle's back yard when other children romp down the block, then he hides behind a bush and watches them.

You can see it all from our front porch.

He makes faces at the children from who he hides, and after they have gone down the block a ways, he comes out and pretends that he is chasing them.

Once there were two very small children who came down the sidewalk, and he came out and stopped them, and talked to them. It surprised us, because we had not seen him talk to anyone before. Then he began to make gestures, as if threatening to strike them. But a man came out of the house down the block, and the boy ran lickety-split into his uncle's back yard. After a while he peeked around the corner of the house.

It gives you an uneasy feeling, watching him — a feeling of tragedy, as if you are watching a life being ruined.

I don't know why he is that way. Maybe even someone trained in psychology or its grimmer twin, psychiatry, wouldn't know, not knowing the boy.

I only know what his aunt and uncle said that time, when we mentioned that we had seen him playing on the sidewalk. His aunt said, "Yes, he makes up his own games all the time. His parents don't approve of his playing with other children — there's so much danger that they'll teach him naughty things."

And his uncle added, "They're so careful of him. He teases for a bicycle, but they're afraid there is too much danger in the traffic. He wants a dog, too, but dogs are too much trouble around a house."

The uncle spoke mildly, but I do not think he approved, and I liked him better for it.

Watching from a front porch across the street, you can see a lot that parents never seem to notice.

Things, perhaps, like a boyhood being smothered.

Gas De-Control Bill Seems Sidetracked

WASHINGTON — Between straddling at the White House and the serious illness of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, an issue that at first apparently had easy sailing is in trouble.

It is the bill to exempt independent gas producers from federal controls.

Nobody in a position of leadership wants to take sole responsibility for this consumer versus producer legislation. Yet Speaker Rayburn has been left alone on that burning deck. He has some helpers in the lesser ranks of the House but their efforts to make the measure more palatable have done it as much harm as good.

The gas bill as such has had a long history. With gas wells as with the offshore oil deposits the Supreme Court has insisted upon federal jurisdiction. Thus only an act of Congress can free the gas producers from federal curbs. The first effort to secure it was the Moore-Rizley bill of 1947. Then same Sen. Bob Kerr's gas bill in 1948, the work of the Oklahoma Democrat who had just arrived in Washington.

The present version which has passed the House Commerce Committee and is waiting for the green light from rules, is much modified. When the session opened it seemed to have everything in its favor. The oil and gas interests had warmly supported President Eisenhower and he had pushed the Tidelands bill. A generally hostile Democratic view was countered by the fact that the leaders of both Senate and House are from the oil and gas state of Texas. As the speaker has admitted with a wry smile, it isn't hard to see why he takes some positions not in the Democratic platform.

But the more the Eisenhower strategists looked at the bill which would mean higher prices to consumers in the great cities of pivotal states, the less inclined they were to stick their necks out. Democratic charges of "giveaway" had already proved their potency in the elections last November.

"Let Rayburn and Johnson do it" became the motto. It was of course not lost on those experienced politicians and they put on some heat of their own.

The outlook today for the bill is about 50-50. In addition to everything else, it is caught in the adjournment rush and Sen. Johnson is not on hand to give it his very special brand of watchfulness. The Senate will not even bother with it unless and until it passes the House.

There the strategy will be to turn back on its supporters and their own proposal for a broad investigation of the transportation and distribution of natural gas. The proposal proved unpopular because it did not mention production and when they saw that might be included, proponents of the present gas bill dropped it.

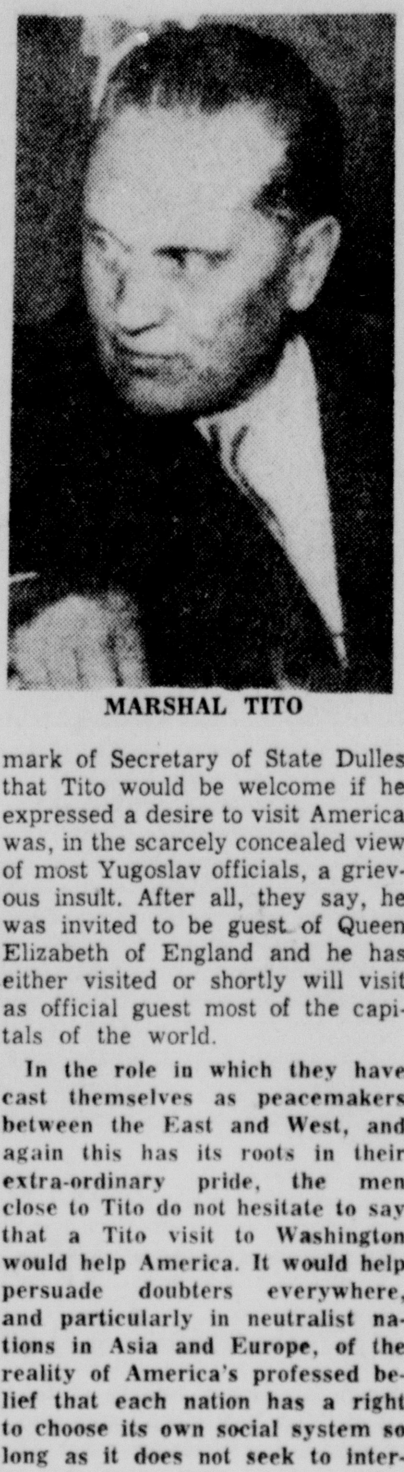
Tito Holds To Middle Of Road



MARSHAL TITO

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia— Having succeeded with the help of the West in resisting Communist imperialism so that Soviet Russia's own leaders finally came to him, Marshal Tito is going on with the balancing act that has put him in the middle between the two power blocs. A gesture to the West on one day is countered with a gesture to Moscow on the following day. Shortly after Bulganin and Khrushchev made their pilgrimage to Belgrade the ambassadors of the U.S., France, and Great Britain held a formal conference with top Yugoslav officials here which resulted in a declaration confirming "The wide measure of agreement between the four governments in their approach to the various international questions under review." And this statement had scarcely been signed before it was announced that Tito would go to Moscow to return the visit of the Kremlin rulers.

During the Khrushschev - Bulganin visit more than 100 correspondents from the West described in their dispatches from Belgrade the humiliating extent to which Russia went to win favor with Yugoslavia. They reported Khrushchev's buffoonery as part of the spectacle of Soviet abasement. Yet, on sober second thought this humiliation — and it appears to have been in large part a calculated act — has resulted in real gains for the Soviet bloc.

Tito signed a joint declaration with Bulganin putting Yugoslavia on the Communist side on many specific points of disputed policy. One was to call for the return of Formosa to the Communist Chinese. This was in marked contrast with the amiable generalities contained in the declaration concluding the conference with the western ambassadors.

This campaign also points up a source of hurt pride that the proud Yugoslav people invariably raise with the American visitor. For at least a year and a half Yugoslav officials have been hinting that Tito would like to visit America. These hints have been passed on through usual diplomatic channels but they have met with no response whatsoever.

The recent press conference remark of Secretary of State Dulles that Tito would be welcome if he expressed a desire to visit America was, in the scarcely concealed view of most Yugoslav officials, a grievous insult. After all, they say, he was invited to be guest of Queen Elizabeth of England and he has either visited or shortly will visit as official guest most of the capitals of the world.

In the role in which they have cast themselves as peacemakers between the East and West, and again this has its roots in their extra-ordinary pride, the men close to Tito do not hesitate to say that a Tito visit to Washington would help America. It would help persuade doubters everywhere, and particularly in neutralist nations in Asia and Europe, of the reality of America's professed belief that each nation has a right to choose its own social system so long as it does not seek to interfere in the affairs of any other nation.

Those who are frankest in the Tito regime also say that such a visit would benefit Tito, who has never been in America. He would see at firsthand the overflowing productivity of American enterprise and the high standard of living of American workers under the free enterprise system. Being considerable of a realist and despite his Communist convictions, Tito would be likely to understand and appreciate American methods.

It is out of America's abundant productivity that Yugoslavia has received since its break with Soviet Russia in 1948, a half-billion dollars in economic aid, and while the total of military aid has never been released it can scarcely be less than one billion dollars. Last year one million tons of wheat were shipped in, and wheat and other stores out of America's bulging larders continue to come in. On the military side jet planes—perhaps as many as 100—have been furnished to the Yugoslav air force. Some tanks of advanced design have been sent, and recent equipment has included radar and electronic fire control. The latter, requiring advanced technical knowledge to operate, has raised some problems. American military men have had doubts about the ability of the Yugoslavs to maintain this equipment and they have repeatedly asked for the right to observe it in operation. The reply is that this would be interference in the internal affairs of Yugoslavia and therefore, it is impossible.

It may be that at this point pride becomes supersensitive and arouses suspicion. Significantly, one of the reasons for the break with Russia was Yugoslavia's refusal to follow the direction of a Russian military mission in Belgrade. The break with Moscow put an end to the prospect of an eastern European bloc closely linked to the USSR. It spelled the end of the Communist civil war in Greece and many other benefits can be traced to it and to the fact of 30 divisions that Yugoslavia had under arms then and now. With the buildup of NATO in the past seven years and the rapid development of atomic weapons, those divisions have less importance. But if the stubborn pride of Tito and the men around him are a complication in their relationship with the East it must never be forgotten that the same independence brought the break which was the first crack in the outwardly solid Communist structure.

About Crosses

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Those who endured the depression of the thirties, had but one consolation inasmuch as they were not the only sufferers. Even so in life, each one of us is born into the world in the shadow of a cross. No one escapes his Golgotha. Yet is it not true, we have only to look about us to find others bearing heavier crosses than our own. The Cross of Calvary was indeed a brutal one, and was to become the cross of the world, from the early Christian martyrs to the present day professing Christian, and many there be who carry it. Although there was no television in Christ's day the wireless message from the divine Sponsor of Calvary was to be carried to all corners of the world. "Take up my cross and follow Me." It is not the way of comfortable rented pews, social teas, and church picnics. It is the path leading to the slum, skid row, and the brothel. Modernized Christianity is no longer a hospital for sick souls. It avoids the stink, and smell of the unwashed, and diseased of both body, and soul. It has no place for the leper. Consequently it cannot truthfully say: "Go thy way, and sin no more."

YOUR CROSS

When your cross seems very heavy
Look about you my dear friend,
And your burden will be lighter,
As you peer around the bend.
Of life's long weary journey,
To home beyond the skies.
For many are the pilgrims,
On that trail of tears and sighs
The blind, halt, and weary,
And those of broken heart.
Each bearing heavier crosses,
The lesson to impart,
That others have their troubles,
And broken hearts to mend,
Then your cross will seem much lighter
If a helping hand you'll lend.

THE SLOW GOLFER

He argues on the starting tee
A "Mulligan" from all demanding
And if his comrades won't agree
Time goes while they remain there standing.
Two fairways may be open wide;
Two greens ahead may be forsaken,
But many things he must decide
Before his second shot is taken.

He stands for minutes near his ball
To ponder o'er the needed distance.
Which club to use? He tries them all.
His finger tests the wind's resistance.

Upon the green he kneels to see
The line. A waste of moments this is.
He's putting for an eight or nine.
At last he strokes the ball and misses.
Since he's the one who keeps the score
He lingers on the green to do it
Some one took five who claimed a four!
And there they stay while they

Of golfers he's the selfish kind
That all who follow him are hating,
For never once he looks behind
To see the faster players waiting.

Restore 20 Pct. Foreign Aid Slash, Dulles Urges

Would Effect Key Nations, Senators Told

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles urged the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday to restore the 20 per cent cut which the House made Monday in President Eisenhower's foreign aid budget.

Dulles testified that military authorities informed him the $420 million slash in arms aid would effect programs in several key countries. He said that if this is so, it would do "considerable harm to our foreign aid policy objectives in those areas."

The secretary testified behind closed doors but Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz) issued a summary of the testimony.

The House approved $2,683,741,750 in foreign aid for the 1956 fiscal year which began July 1. This was almost $649,266,750 less than the President requested. Despite an administration appeal that the reduction would "gravely hinder" U.S. foreign policy, not a single House member moved to restore the funds.

Dulles particularly urged senators to override the House on cuts in defense support for Asia, the President's $200 million Asiatic development fund which the House cut in half, and in funds for military equipment.

He said the cut in military aid can have "very serious consequences if the result of such a cut is our inability to fulfill military assistance programs with certain of our Allies."

Dulles declared that "we have recently seen encouraging developments in international relations." He listed the Austrian Treaty, restoration of sovereignty to West Germany and its admission to NATO.

He said the foreign aid program has been a "major contributor" to these developments and said that if the President's dull request is granted, it would "yield real dividends in the accomplishment of our foreign policy."

Conservation Guide, Poster Distributed

Increasing emphasis on conservation of natural resources by Nebraska school children has brought forth a new poster and teacher's guide for conservation education.

The poster and guide, prepared by the State Department of Education, lists an eight-point "outdoor creed" for student. The creed includes such statements as:

"I believe in securing permission before using or entering another's property and will leave it without damage.

"I believe in taking only legal fish and game and will do my part in their propagation."

The teacher's guide includes such projects as planning and maintaining shelter belts and farm woodlots and reporting of instances in which they contributed to keeping waters, highways or campgrounds clean.

The new material was prepared by George E. Rotter, supervisor of conservation education in the state department.

Rotter said that within the last two or three years they have distributed about 200,000 copies of at least seven different items of instructional material on conservation to the state's elementary and secondary schools.

House Fund Cut Leaves Base Still Needing Med Facilities

The need still exists for "extensive medical facilities" at Lincoln Air Force Base, Col. William Gillespie, base commander, said Wednesday in commenting on the deletion of money for a base hospital by the House Appropriations Committee.

The House action was taken "pending a decision regarding the use of the existing Veteran's Hospital near the base," the Associted Press said.

A proposal has been made to divert facilities of Veterans Hospital to the use of the base, possibly under a part AF, part VA, setup.

The House committee figure for the Lincoln base was $3,928,000 which is $2,667,000 below the figure listed in the original authorization bill.

First District Congressman Phil Weaver told The Star that the latest move "leaves us just about where we wanted to be."

He referred to the fact that he, in behalf of the Lincoln Chamber and state veterans organizations, had insisted that the hospital remain under VA control and beds be allocated by the VA for the Air Force's use.

Tuesday's action by the House Appropriations committee leaves the situation, Rep. Weaver said, substantially this: "If approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee and Congress, it (the House committee action) means that the Air Force will merely participate in the use of the hospital on a tenant basis."

Authorization Valid

He pointed out, however, that the authorization to build the hospital on the base is still valid and it could be built yet if funds were allocated by later Congressional action.

John Curtiss, chairman of the Chamber committee on the Veterans Hospital, said the committee's "primary interest was to keep the hospital under the control of the VA. We apparently have been successful in this."

He pointed out that the situation now stands as the Chamber proposed with the VA operating the hospital and the Air Force using 100 beds.

Committees Divided

The action cancelling the appropriation left the House committees divided. Earlier the Armed Forces Committee had recommended against the splitting of the Vets Hospital and authorized a separate hospital for the Air Force at the base.

Earlier, the VA and Defense Department had recommended that the Lincoln VA hospital be transferred to the AF and that 75 beds be reserved for veterans care at Lincoln.

In other action, the committee recommended $128,000 for Offutt Air Force Base at Omaha.

The two projects are part of a $2,471,745,000 construction program recommended for Army, Navy and Air Force during the next 12 months. The supplemental appropriations bill included $553,880,000 for the Army, $606,479,700 for the Navy and $1,311,185,000 for the Air Force.

Two Plead Guilty To Sodomy Charge

George C. Smith, 39, from Edenton, N. C., and Arnold H. Schlotfeldt, 44, from Davenport, Ia., pleaded guilty in District Court to sodomy charges. The complaint charged the offense occurred July 11. The defendants were arrested by police in the vicinity of Oak Creek Park.

Smith and Schlotfeldt are members of the 818th Supply Squadron, stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Judge Paul White ordered a presentence investigation by the adult probation officer.

Department Aids 108 Blind Persons

A total of 108 persons took part last year in rehabilitation work of the Department of Services for the Blind.

Of these, 34 were rehabilitated, Services Director Harry Hines reported.

They are working at jobs ranging from rug-weaving and domestic services to factory work and school teaching.

This number is about equal to the number rehabilitated in the last three or four years. However only two rehabilitation counselors were at work last year compared with three or four in previous years.

Hines said they expect double this number to be rehabilitated during the current fiscal year because of the expanded staff and increased services.

Falls City Hospital Drive Reaches Goal

Near 1,000 Make Contributions

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — The $100,000 fund raising drive for a community hospital went over the top in 24 days. About 1,000 persons from the Falls City area made cash contributions or purchased hospital bonds.

The drive started June 16 after the Sisters of Charity, Leavenworth, Kan., announced they were giving up the hospital here because of lack of patronage.

The Community Hospital, Inc., formed to purchase the hospital for $68,000, will take over July 21. The remainder of the $100,000 will be used for operating capital.

Trustees of the new community hospital are Kenneth Sandrock, Walter Kottich Sr., Gus P. Scholz, John C. Lichty, Ed Bucholz, Homer G. Wiltse and Wilbur J. Prichard, all of Falls City; Harry Huston of Salem, and Roland Owens of Verdon.

Superior Crash Victim Reported As 'Satisfactory'

Lincoln Star Special

SUPERIOR, Neb. — Wendell Springer, 20, of Bostwick, Neb., was reported "satisfactory" late Tuesday by hospital authorities here.

The youth dug himself out of the wreckage of his car and hailed a passing motorist after being pinned in the wreckage over 24 hours.

Sammy Lee Peery, 12, of Nelson, Springer's companion, was killed when the car swerved off a bridge near here, plunged into a 15-foot ditch and overturned. But Springer survived and after nearly two days freed himself.

The two had left Superior for Nelson about midnight.

The car was in a ditch about 15 feet below a bridge about two and a quarter miles west of here.

Young Peery was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Peery and had been staying with relatives at both Nelson and Superior while his parents were in California.

Good Wheat Yields Reported As Panhandle Harvest Opens

By The Associated Press

The winter wheat harvest in Nebraska's Panhandle, speeded up by high temperatures in recent days, is under way.

The Chadron Grain and Coal Co. Tuesday received the first wheat in Dawes County. The wheat, from the Roy and Don Gore farm north of Chadron, tested 60 pounds with an estimated yield of better than 30 bushels to the acre.

Harvesting of Cheyenne County's big wheat crop, slowing recovering after attacks by drought and hail, isn't expected to begin until Friday or Saturday.

That first harvest probably will take place on the George Hillman farm 11 miles south of Lodgepole near the Colorado state line. Hillman has about 170 acres of good looking wheat just a few days from the combine's blade.

Long Cheyenne Harvest

Most of the Cheyenne harvesting is expected to take place late in the month with the work extending into August because of this spring's unusual weather pattern in the county.

The harvest in Keith County is well under way. And reports are favorable.

The harvest is in full swing at Paxton and Roscoe and in the first stages of operation at Ogallala, Brule and Big Springs.

Elevator operators and farmers are gushing with optimism about the county's yield. They call it "fantastic" and "at least 10 bushels better than anyone had expected."

In Paxton, Joe Beveridge of the Beveridge Grain Co. described reports of yields as "unbelievable." He said he hadn't heard of any yields under 30 bushels to the acre and added that a few growers were reporting 50 bushel wheat yields.

High at Roscoe

Cliff Hull of the Hull Grain Co. in Roscoe said there just aren't any small yields. He said they were ranging from 30 to 42 bushels per acre, about 10 bushels more than farmers had expected when combines entered their fields.

The highly successful harvest in southeast Nebraska is almost history, and in the Fremont area almost all the grain has been brought to elevators.

Operators of the elevators at Fremont, Tekamah, Wahoo and Schuyler indicated wheat of a better quality than last year and, in most cases, higher yields. Only at Schuyler was the wheat reported of lower yield, but according to W. J. Wraggex, it was "definitely better" in quality.

The yields at the Fremont area elevators ran from 25 to 40 bushels per acre on the average with some farmers getting more than 60 bushels to the acre.

Search Continues For Suspects In $17,000 Robbery

Lincoln Star Special

UTICA, Neb.—The search for a 21-year-old woman and an unidentified man who are suspects in the $17,600 robbery of Clyde Parker of Utica has developed no new leads, Seward County lawmen reported Tuesday.

The woman, identified by authorities as Sharon McVay, 21, was being sought in connection with the robbery which took place late Saturday night. She and her companion reportedly beat up Parker and fled in a car which authorities said he had presented the woman as a gift.

Parker had allegedly known the woman six months, officials said.

Parker, knocked unconscious and suffering a broken leg, is still in Seward Memorial Hospital.

Meadow Grove Lad Flown To Hospital

OMAHA (AP)—Jack Yynn, 12, Meadow Grove, was being treated at Children's Hospital here after a hurried trip from his home to a Tilden hospital and then an airplane flight to Omaha.

Jack was severely gashed about the head and shoulders in a tractor mower accident.

Plants Are Picketed

OMAHA (AP)—Strikers picketed the general offices and four plants of the Ready Mixed Concrete Co. Tuesday. On strike are two locals of the laborers and teamsters union.

51 Per Cent Wheat Harvested; Outlook For Panhandle Crop Is Said Very Good

Corn made "excellent progress" last week and the wheat harvest rolled to 51 per cent completion, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

A year ago at the same time, the wheat harvest was 64 per cent over.

The weekly review by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics followed on the heels of a Department of Agriculture estimate placing wheat yield estimates at near 65 million bushels in the state, a gain of nearly 13 million bushels from the estimate a month earlier.

The winter wheat turnout "surprised even the most optimistic," Tuesday's review noted.

While the June improvement was "remarkable and unusual," there still are a large number of very low yields, the report said. Little harvesting had been done at the time the July 1 estimates were made.

The Panhandle wheat harvest still hadn't started by the week end but the outlook is very good.

Harvest of wheat in the central area was 30 per cent complete; east central, 89 per cent; southwest, 37 per cent; south-central, 75 per cent, and southeast, 86 per cent.

Hot weather, high humidity, moderate winds, abundant sunshine and scattered rains gave corn a push last week, although some leaves started to roll.

About half of the counties now report a short supply of surface moisture and subsoil moisture and a number of counties now need rain for the corn. The subsoil supply in the leading corn territory is not up to par for this date.

The generally optimistic appraisal of corn and wheat extends to most crops.

Most of the oats and barley is turning out better than expected, the report said. Oats are fair to good in the extreme northeast but variable elsewhere. More oats acreage than usual is being cut for hay.

Good Hay Yields

Wild hay yields are good in the northwest, promising in the Sandhills although later than usual.

Harvest of the second crop of alfalfa is well along in southern and eastern Nebraska, and yields are good.

Sorghum and soybeans made good progress. Soybeans need moisture in the east and some sorghum got quite weedy before it could be cultivated.

The early potato crop is promising in central Nebraska and late potatoes were planted under ideal conditions in the North Platte Valley.

Storms did considerable damage to sugar beets and dry edible beans, and there is some question whether replanted beans will mature before frost.

Pasture conditions remain good although moisture is needed.

Nebraskan Among Soldiers Escaping Korean Stockade

SEOUL (AP) — Four American soldiers, one a Nebraskan, cut their way through a wire fence and escaped from the 8th Army stockade Tuesday.

The Army said they probably were armed and two were "extremely dangerous."

An Army spokesman identified the four as:

Howard Berkowitz, 19, of Jackson Heights, N.Y., discharged for bad conduct and serving a six-month term for sleeping on post.

Willie W. Hitt, 19, Philadelphia, dishonorably discharged and serving a five-year sentence for grand larceny.

Deleon R. Lee, 21, of Union, Neb., dishonorably discharged and serving a five-year term for grand larceny.

Wallace Rose, 25, Angelton, Tex., serving 15 years for desertion.

The spokesman said both Lee and Rose were extremely dangerous. He quoted Lee as saying "No M.P. will be able to take me."

Honored At Coffee

In Lincoln this week for a very brief visit are Mrs. Ramona Forbes and her twin sister, Mrs. Frances Meridith, of Pasadena, Calif., who are the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Seward Day.

The guests arrived the first of the week to visit with members of their family including their brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Chamberlin and Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlin, and before returning to the west coast, will go to Beatrice for a short stay with their father, E. E. Chamberlin, and their brother, Warren Chamberlin, and Mrs. Chamberlin.

In courtesy to her houseguests, Mrs. Day entertained at an informal coffee Tuesday morning at her home.

From the left are Mrs. Meridith, Mrs. Day and Mrs. Forbes.

A BUSY SUMMERTIME

REALLY should have roller skates to keep up with the news this morning. A lot of water has gone under the bridge since the first day of July —people who were gone are home again —people who were home have gone away — there have been houseguests galore — there have been parties and need we say it? There have been weddings. Yes, everyone's busy this summer.

SOMEONE just informed us that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hoppe Jr., returned Monday evening after spending nearly two weeks in Alexandria, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Hoppe in the Hoppe family summer home there.

THEN, we found that Ross P. Curtice is planning to leave Lincoln a week from this Friday for a short visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Curtice, and their daughter, Marilyn. They will be staying at Mr. and Mrs. Curtice's summer home at Buhl Lake, Minn. Mr. Curtice plans to be gone for about a week.

SPEAKING of the Norman Curtices reminds us that Miss Stanley Walker and her father, Keith Walker, left early Sunday morning for Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Walker is there on business while Miss Walker is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Curtice's daughter, Marilyn. The travelers will be returning home on Thursday.

NEWS of an August bride-elect concerns Miss Cynthia Johnson, who will become the bride of Keith Britton of Sioux City, Ia., on Wednesday evening, Aug. 24. We understand that on Friday, Mrs. Harold Gease and Mrs. Gilbert Duling will entertain for Miss Johnson at a morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Gease. During the coffee, Miss Johnson will be presented a kitchen shower.

And we also learned that on Sunday morning, Mrs. Jerry Desmond and her daughter, Miss Ann Desmond, will honor Miss Johnson at a morning brunch at the Country Club of Lincoln. Following the brunch, Miss Johnson will receive a kitchen-dish shower.

ANOTHER pre-nuptial courtesy honoring a popular bride-elect will be given this morning when Mrs. George E. Lewis entertains at her home for Miss Jeanine Schacht of Columbus, whose marriage to David A. Becker of Colorado Springs will be an event of September. Twenty guests have been invited to the informal coffee and will present a miscellaneous shower to Miss Schacht.

Included among the guests will be the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Ray L. Schacht of Columbus.

WE just found out about a family reunion in Lincoln. Mrs. William R. Frank and her daughters, Rae Ellen and Julia, of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived in June for a visit with Mrs. Frank's mother, Mrs. David Diamond. Mrs. Frank and her children will be leaving this Friday morning. Then, last week end, Mr. and Milton Wittman and their children, Friedner, Brendel, Peretz, and Davida, of Bethesda, Md. arrived in Lincoln for a month's visit with Mrs. Wittman's mother, Mrs. Diamond. Lincoln friends will remember Mrs. Frank as the former Shirley Diamond. Mrs. Wittman is the former Evelyn Diamond.

Entertain At Brunch

Members of the orientation committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division entertained new members of the organization Sunday morning at a late morning brunch at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Miss Grace Trott, division president, presided and co-chairmen for the brunch were Miss Elva Baxter and Miss Yleen Riesland.

Included among the new members attending were Miss Dorothy Beever, Mrs. Urania Wedgewood, Miss Eleanor Anderson, Miss Valarie Rezabek, Miss Alberta Stack, Mrs. Cecilia Lawrie, Mrs. Hazel Stebbins, Miss Avis Kristenson, Miss Helen Manchester, Mrs. Edith Austin, Miss Ruth Henderson and Miss Gwen Mead.

Former Coed Is Summer Bride

MRS. JERRY L. PENNINGTON

The chancel of the Methodist Church at Louisville was lighted by white cathedral candles, and appointed with spreading arrangement of white gladioli, for the marriage of Miss Betty Joan Thurman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thurman of Louisville, to Jerry L. Pennington, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pennington of Lincoln, on Sunday, July 10. The late afternoon ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. L. N. Blough, and Mrs. George Dolan, organist, played the wedding music. Preceding the service, Mrs. Dolan also accompanied Miss Betty Lou Hrabik, the vocal soloist.

Wearing alike frocks of cameo pink crystalette were Mrs. Lewis Walker of Eaton, Colo., as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Penton of Lincoln and Mrs. James Johnson of Louisville. Fashioned on princess lines, the snug bodices were accented by deep V necklines, and the skirts flared in crisp fullness. They carried fans of pink feathered carnations. Miss Carol Brunson of Louisville was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Lewis Walker of Eaton, Colo., and seating the guests were Del Johnson, Bridgeport, and Ward Brunson of Louisville.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white silk faille designed in the princess mode. Tiny pearls embroidered in a floral motif patterned the heart-shaped decolletage of the molded, torso bodice, and the pearls were repeated at the wrist of the long, fitted sleeves. The skirt widened into extreme fullness beneath the hipline, and her veil of illusion was held by a cap of lace dotted with pearls. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid and showered with tuberoses.

A former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Mrs. Pennington is a member of Delta Zeta sorority. The bridegroom has attended Southwest Missouri State College and Nebraska Wesleyan University.

YWCA Plans Activities

The Lincoln YWCA new summer term of programs and classes will begin July 18 and will continue through the following four weeks. Registration is open for a variety of activities for the school-age, adults and entire families. A special "package" program for junior high school girls will be given each Monday and Wednesday morning.

Entertains Houseguests

Embarked on a full day of activities are Miss Mary Sue Hiskey and her houseguests, Miss Ann McRoy and Miss Caryl Ann Klingberg of Carbondale, Ill., who arrived Monday evening to spend a week in Lincoln with their former classmate. Mary Sue and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Hiskey, are former residents of Carbondale.

On Wednesday afternoon, Miss Hiskey will entertain in courtesy to her guests when she will be hostess at a swimming party. Fifteen guests have been invited for the afternoon and for a picnic supper to be held in the evening at the Hiskey home.

Later Monday evening, another surprise party was given for Mr. Lillie when members of his family and friends called at his home.

Visiting From Texas

Spending the morning relaxing in a cool backyard is the ideal way to spend the summer months in the opinion of Mrs. Wayne Mack and her two children, Linda and Tommy. Mrs. Mack and her family are the house guests of Mrs. Mack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kendall.

Mrs. Mack, who will be remembered as the former Betty Ann Kendall and a Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska, arrived with her children last Friday evening and will be in Lincoln for a short visit before returning home in Abilene, Tex.

The Brides' Book Says:

A July bride-elect whose wedding will take place on Saturday morning, July 16, is Miss Rose O'Brien who is announcing the members of her bridal party this morning. Miss O'Brien will become the bride of Herschel B. Morton, Jr., and the 11:30 o'clock service will be solemnized at Sacred Heart Church.

Attending the bride-to-be as matron of honor will be Mrs. Norman Kovonda of Denver, Colo., and the flower girl will be Miss Ellen Stafford of Norfolk.

Mr. Kovonda will serve Mr. Morton as best man, and seating the guests will be Michael Hickey and Jack Keene. Joe Morris will be ringbearer.

Miss O'Brien and her fiance were honored last Saturday evening at a picnic supper for which Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Doty and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hays were hosts and hostesses in the garden of the Reed house.

Another recent courtesy honoring the bride-elect was the one-gift shower at which Mrs. Arthur Trainor entertained 20 guests at her home recently.

Adenauer Sees Passage Of First Rearmament Law This Week

...Bundestag OK Predicted

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted Tuesday night the Bundestag (lower house) will pass Germany's first rearmament law before the Geneva Big Four conference.

"It is now definitely clear that this law will be passed without further difficulties by the end of this week," Adenauer told a reporter.

Adenauer made the statement after receiving assurances from his coalition leaders that the lower house will vote Friday and Saturday on legislation to call up the first volunteers this year for the new 500,000-man armed forces.

This volunteers bill aroused a storm of protest when it was first submitted to Parliament by the government in June. Adenauer's own coalition parties said it failed to guarantee civilian control of the military.

Limits

The Bundestag's Security Committee rewrote the bill to limit the number of volunteers that can be enlisted and to clamp firm parliamenary controls on the military.

Adenauer accepted the new version and approval by the Bundestag is now certain. The 151 opposition Socialist deputies alone oppose it in the 487-member Bundestag. Approval by the Bundesrat (upper house) on July 22 also is considered certain.

The action, Adenauer feels, will rule out any tendency at Geneva to consider West German rearmament as a bargaining point. He wants to make plain the 5 0million West Germans are irrevocably tied to the free world.

No Wait

The volunteers bill is a temporary measure to permit the government to start building the armed forces without waiting for Parliament to pass permanent defense legislation. Twenty permanent military laws will be submitted in the fall.

Under this bill, the government can recruit a maximum of 6,000 volunteers before March 31, 1956. They cannot be formed into military units. They can be assigned only to international staffs in NATO, training courses, receiving and handling foreign military aid, regional military offices and assignments on the Defense Ministry.

Hot Weather Pushes Power Consumption To All-Time High

Tuesday's power load as recorded by the Nebraska Public Power system broke the all-time record —which was established just the day before.

Records were also broken in Lincoln and Omaha.

Dewey J. DeBoer of Columbus, manager of the Nebraska Public Power System, said the maximum load was 305,000 kilowatt hours Tuesday, beating Monday's 303,600 kwh.

DeBoer said he believed Wednesday's mark would fall below this figure unless the weather became even warmer.

Increased air conditioning and irrigation were listed by DeBoer as the reasons for the increase, but said that no power shortage was likely.

In Lincoln, city power users drained kilowatts at an all-time high oMnday with the usage of 14,448 kilowatts. The previous high was in July last year with 12,750 kilowatts.

D. L. Erickson, public works director, said the city developed 6,240 kilowatts of this power and the Nebraska Public Power System 8,208 kilowatts.

The tendency has been for the greatest use of power in the winter, Erickson said, but the use of air conditioning in the summer has switched the greater power load to the summer months.

The expanded needs have caused increased facilities to be placed into use, Erickson said. A new transformer has been placed into use at the A St. pumping plant because of increased power needs.

In Omaha, the Omaha Public Power District OPPD said usage continued Tuesday at about the same level as Monday when an hourly record of 231,000 kilowatts was set.

The Monday mark was the third all-time high for the OPPD in a week.

New Record In Use Of Water

Water use in Lincoln continued to climb to new records Tuesday as city flow charts indicated more than 42 million gallons passed through the pumping stations.

A pump lacking a meter at the A St. plant caused the total pumpage figures to be slightly off and only an estimate, according to D. L. Erickson, public works director.

Erickson estimated water usage for Monday up to midnight at 42,043,500 gallons, the highest figure on record for the city. He said the water department is not worried if the figure should go to 47 million gallons as long is it doesn't continue over too long a period.

The previous high was 37,048,000 gallons, set last Thursday.

The usage figure for last year on Monday, a comparative figure, was 20,328,500. The daily average usage has risen by more than 10 million gallons over the past year.

Iowa Man's Body Taken From River

OMAHA (AP)—The body of a man about 35 years old was pulled from the Missouri River about two miles downstream from the South Omaha Bridge Tuesday.

Identification on the body gave the name of Obert Nowel Fjelstad, Des Moines, Acting County Coroner George Sullivan said. He estimated the man had been dead about four days.

Man Takes Sure $25,000 Over A $100,000 Gamble

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A Fayetteville man, who won a contest giving him the choice of $25,000 cash or half interest in two Oklahoma oil wells with a potential of $100,000, Tuesday decided on the money.

Vernon B. Fitzhugh, in making his decision, said:

"I'm just tired of losing sleep and my appetite—we've thought about it for two weeks. We may have done the wrong thing but at least it's over."

He said he would put the cash into the bank until Jan. 1 and then pay off his income tax, about $7,000.

STAN 'THE MAN' MAKES HISTORY

Nationals Win 6-5 On Homer In 12th

By JACK HAND

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals lined a 375-foot home run into the right field bleachers on the first pitch of the bottom half of the 12th inning Tuesday to give the National League a 6-5 comeback victory over the American in the 22nd All-Star game.

Musial's smash set an All-Star record for it was his fourth in 12 games, the most ever played by any man since the late Arch Ward dreamed up the series back in 1933. Until he broke up the ball game, Musial hadn't had a hit.

Trailing 5-0 as late as the seventh inning, the Nationals clawed back to win after they had been counted out. Mickey Mantle's tremendous 425-foot blast into "Perini's Woods" in center field with two men on climaxed a four-run spurt by the Americans in the first inning.

Sensational clutch pitching by Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall and Milwaukee's Gene Conley, the ultimate winner, curled the Americans around their fingers while the Nationals closed the series gap to 13-9 in favor of the American.

He Did It!

Stan Musial

Musial's winning blow provided a smashing climax to Milwaukee's first taste of All-Star play. Most of the 45,643 fans who had bought tickets (of whom 45,324 showed up) knew the Americans only by reading about them in the papers. They were willing to believe all their fine press notices in the early innings while the Nationals floundered in bitter frustration.

Conley, the towering 6-8 righthander who has won 11 games for the hometown Braves, had just taken up the pitching burden in the 12th inning. Nuxhall, the Cincinnati lefty who was used in relief in regular season play Saturday and twice Sunday, had stopped the Americans dead for 3 1-3 innings, striking out five men.

At the end of the second extra inning game in the series history, Manager Leo Durocher had used everybody on his 23-man squad except Luis Arroyo, the St. Louis lefty. He had to let pitchers bat for themselves in the late stages.

Conley, who had worked a full nine-inning game Sunday, simply threw that ball past the opposition in his one-inning stand. Detroit's Al Kaline, Washington's Mickey Vernon and Cleveland's Al Rosen all struck out.

After that bit of inspirational work, Musial stepped to the plate to face Boston's Frank Sullivan, the fourth American League pitcher. One pitch, one home run. It was as simple as all that.

A costly error by Chicago's Chico Carrasquel who fumbled a grounder and then threw away the ball, trying for a force play, cost the Americans a run in the seventh. Another error by Rosen who let Kaline's throw get through him at third base, permitted the Cubs' Ransom Jackson to score the tying run in the eighth. In each case there were two out before the Nationals scored.

The Nationals had won the other extra inning fray, too, also on a home run by a St. Louis Cardinal. In 1950 at Comiskey Park in Chicago, it was Red Schoendienst who came through in the 14th inning for a 4-3 decision.

After a smashing start, the game bogged down in the middle innings and then rose to a furious climax. The fans who had contributed to a gross gate of $179,545.50 (net $163,254.02) must have gone home happy, humming with memories to carry through the years until the game returns to Milwaukee.

Mantle's 425-foot homer with two men on base in the first inning looked like the ball game until the Nationals came out of their daze. Mickey's screaming hit cleared a double fence and rolled toward the cluster of trees planted by Milwaukee owner Lou Perini to give the hitters a better background.

One run already had scored on a wild pitch by Philadelphia's Robin Roberts before the New York Yankee centerfielder connected to complete a four-run inning. The second guessers quickly got busy, claiming manager Leo Durocher should have started a lefthander to tie a record by starting his fifth instead of giving Roberts a chance All-Star game.

The American lead was stretched to 5-0 in the sixth on a single by Yankee Yogi Berra, a double by Kaline and an infield out by Mickey Vernon of Washington. The double by Kaline was a hot smash off the left wrist of Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee third baseman, that bounced into left field. Mathews left the game in the next inning for a trip to the hospital where X-rays of the wrist showed he had escaped a fracture.

Eleven Nationals were retired in order by Pierce and Cleveland's Early Wynn, his successor, until Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski doubled to right in the fifth. That double and a single by New York's Don Mueller were wasted when Wynn retired the next two hitters.

The Nationals failed to take advantage of another hit, a pinch single by Brooklyn's Gil Hodges in the sixth, but they started to catch up with the Americans in the seventh.

Willie Mays, the hotshot of the 1954 World Champion New York Giants, started it off with a single. The next two men flied out before Hank Aaron of Milwaukee walked. Johnny Logan, another Milwaukee Brave, finally broke the American's shutout bid with a single, scoring Mays. When Carrasquel fumbled a ground ball by pinch hitter Stan Lopata of the Phillies and then threw wild trying to force Logan at second, Aaron also scored.

Three in the eighth tied the score for the Nationals with the help of four hits and Rosen's error.

Mays singled to right and Kluszewski singled to the same field. Right fielder Kaline, fearing a homer, was playing deep, and wasn't able to reach Klu's hit that fell at his feet. Jackson grounded a single to right, scoring Mays with his second run.

Whitey Ford, the Yankee lefthander who took over from Wynn in the seventh with a 5-0 lead, was replaced by Sullivan at that point with the score 5-3, two on and two out. Aaron came through with his second hit, also to right, driving in the big Cincy first baseman. When Kaline's throw to third, trying for Jackson, got away from Rosen and rolled to the stands, Jackson pounded home with the tying run.

Big Game Permits May Be Available

Additional applications will be accepted next month if the number of applications for deer or antelope permits for a specific area does not use up all of the permits available for the area, a game commission spokesman said Tuesday.

The original deadline for applying was midnight July 9. Commission employes Tuesday still were far from finished with sorting of the flood of mail which came in over the week-end.

If any permits are left after all pending applications have been processed, Aug. 15 is the tentative date for receiving additional requests.

What's The Western League Score?

In Wichita Local Problem Hurts; Attendance Climbs

Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles by sports writers in Western League cities, concerning the present condition of their local situation and the prospects for the future.

By PETE LIGHTNER
Wichita Eagle

WICHITA, Kan. — Wichita is enjoying its best season from a playing angle and second best in finances, since re-entering the revived Western League in 1950. However, that does not mean the Indians will make any money this season, due partly to a local condition which seems unlikely to be relieved.

Because the National Baseball Congress has a long time lease on city-owned Lawrence Field, for three weeks in July and three weeks in August for state and national semipro tournaments, the Indians will be "orphans" for the rest of July, and will not play at home after Aug. 19.

Attendance this year is up somewhat, 66,280 in 44 sessions compared with 53,676 last year in the same number of openings.

The Indians are owned on a sort of co-operative basis with stockholders, none of whom own large blocks. The club was given to Wichita baseball enthusiasts by Nate Kobey of Denver who found that debts of nearly $40,000 had piled up in three years of operation. The debts have been liquidated but only after continuous stock sales and the city of Wichita, which gets a ten per cent rental, at one time had a back bill of $9,000 it held during the winter.

The ball club shares only nominally in concessions, which are put out on a contract basis by the city park board which operates the stadium, and this is also a big handicap to the operation of the league club, which must even share its fence sign revenue with the N.B.C.

There seems to be no hope locally that the Western can expand to eight clubs. A Topeka sports editor who recently visited the press box during the U.S. Women's Open said his city was not interested in league baseball, and doubted if St. Joe was. Both formerly were in the Western and have ideal locations but Topeka has many debts and evidently St. Joe thinks it is now a part of the American League.

There is some agitation here for Wichita to follow Omaha and Denver, as an Omaha dispatch recently mentioned Wichita to replace Charlestor in the American Association.

However, Indians stockholders are rather cool to the expansion idea, at least some are fearing it would be too much of a burden, and those who want in a faster league look to the Texas, where Beaumont is wobbling, and Wichita has much support as a replacement.

Wichita has long been a rival of Tulsa and Oklahoma City, extending from the old Western when both cities were in, and continuing in college sports, such as football and basketball. Wichita also is in the Mo. Valley with Houston, as well as Tulsa.

There seems to be no big demand however for faster baseball provided the Western could continue on a strong basis with six clubs, or take in two good strong members.

"It's no use to take in tw more towns unless they would be real assets to the league and I don't know where you would find them," said Bob Doty, business manager of the club.

Doty had set a goal of 175,000 for the season but this will not be met.

Chiefs Home For Two Tilts; Two Special Features Set

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

The Lincoln Chiefs drop into Sherman Field tonight for the first game of the shortest series —two games—of the year, to date, meeting the Soo City Soos at 8:15.

But although the home stand will be a short one—the Chiefs and the Soos will tangle again on Thursday—it should prove to be the most colorful stand seen at Shermantown for quite a spell.

In addition to some top-notch Western League action, General Manager Dick Wagner has lined up two outstanding pre-game shows.

Wednesday night's battle with the Soos will be preceeded by some activity straight from the wild west. Cowboy singing star Lucky Carson will be on hand to sing, and he'll be accompanied by his wonder horse, appropriately tagged Chief.

Lucky and Chief will launch the pre-game festivities at 7:45, with the baseball game slated to follow at 8:15.

Thursday night the Lincoln version of the All-Star game will be staged, with representatives of the local press tangling with emissaries of the local radio and TV stations.

This classic struggle will start at 7 p.m., and last for one hour. The Chiefs and the Soos will follow at 8:30.

Manager Bill Burwell will have some new personnel to present to the home folks when he signals the Chiefs on the field tonight. And some old hands have departed.

Newcomers are Infielder Jim Cleverly, Catcher Nick Koback and Outfielders Gene Stair and Joe Christopher.

Cleverly has been signed as a free agent, Koback has come down from the Pittsburgh Pirates and Stair and Christopher have been purchased from Phoenix after posting outstanding early-season marks.

Gone are Infielder Howie Padgett and Outfielder Earl Smith, both optioned to Phoenix as part of the Stair-Christopher deal.

Since the Lincoln roster now includes 20 players, at least two others are slated for a move. The Chiefs will carry only 17 players on the active list. Since Catcher Harry Dunlop is on the disabled list because of a broken finger, that means the Chiefs are still two over their limit.

So two members of the present club will undoubtedly be disposed of in the next day or two.

Manager Bill Burwell will start either Dick Drilling (9-7) or George Witt (1-0) against Sioux City tonight.

The probable starting lineups for the Press-Radio game of Thursday have been announced. They are:

Jack Hart	1b	John Churchill
Jim Raglin	2b	Bob Jeanby
Roy Campbell	3b	Lew Hunter
Hub Ogden	ss	Les Rau

Favorites Move Ahead In Women's City Meet

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Favorites advanced through the heat of Pioneers course Tuesday morning in the first round of the Women's City Golf Tournament.

Victorious in the Championship Flight and ready for the quarterfinals this morning were eight Capital City women including defending champion Sara Lehman and consistently competent Mrs. Paul Hyland, thrice a city ruler.

Miss Lehman, the tall University of Nebraska coed who stunned Mrs. Hyland in the 1954 tournament, defeated Mrs. Sam Schwartzkopf Tuesday, 3-2.

Blonde Mrs. Hyland played her best golf of the season in a 5-4 triumph over Mrs. Wally DeBrown. The woman who conquered the city field in 1950, 1951 and 1953 shot par golf through the first nine and closed two strokes under at 80.

Her excellent play of Tuesday consolidated Mrs. Hyland's position as the leader of the lower flight. Today she goes against one of the brighest young players in town, Phyllis Williamson.

Seventeen-year-old Miss Williamson, a state tournament semifinalist in June, advanced Tuesday on a 7-6 victory over Mrs. Robert Stein.

Miss Lehman's Wednesday foe is Mrs. D. E. Murray, victorious by 6-4 over Mrs. Charles Boswell.

Lake Project Said Feasible

The State Game Commission had indicated its interest in finding some way to go ahead with the proposed Burchard lake project.

Paul Gilbert, Commission secretary, said a report prepared by Kirkham and Michael, Omaha consulting engineers, indicates that the project is feasible from an engineering standpoint.

Their estimate, he said, was $154,563 excepting the cost of purchasing the land.

The Commission asked the group of citizens backing the project to find if they could participate in providing funds for land acquisition.

Then the Commission, Gilbert said, will submit an application to the U. S. Wildlife Service for funds. Under the federal program, the Commission would build and finance the project and the Wildlife Service would then reimburse it for three-fourths of the cost.

Mrs. Robert Stein Golf Chairman

Mrs. Robert Stein was elected chairman of the Lincoln Women's Golf Association at a meeting at Pioneers.

She succeeds Mrs. Harvey Kaufman.

Other officers elected were Sara Lehman, assistant chairman; Mrs. Charles Boswell, treasurer; Mrs. Sam Schwartzkopf, secretary; and Mrs. Kaufman and Mrs. Carl Hudson, board members.

The 1956 city tournament was awarded to Lincoln Country Club.

Lincoln is a growing community, progressing rapidly in many different ways, not the least of which is in the field of sports.

A new auditorium with fine sports facilities, spruced up ball park for a scrapping farm system team, dog clubs, horse clubs and a new ball park for the youngsters all indicate the city's always interested in new and important sports features.

And it's always a pleasure to learn that Lincoln has attracted something new — bigger and better—in the sports realm.

Starting Friday and lasting through Sunday will be the Rocky Mountain Regional Pistol championships. In the past, the major event has been held at Denver, Colo.

This year—for the first time—the matches will be held at the new Lincoln Rifle and Pistol Club range, located just west of the Air Base.

The fact that the Capital City wooed the regional championships away from Denver is a tribute to the local marksmen who have worked hard promoting the rapidly-growing sport in Lincoln and have entered various meets throughout the country.

Lincolnites have been active in the Rocky Mountain shoot in past years. Al Mart took honors for four years, while Floyd Flader, Paul Hayes, Bob Deitemeyer, Wayne Welty and others have won titles of various types at Denver.

We understand Clark Wilson, a director of the National Rifle Association, has been one of the instrumental figures in landing the regionals for Lincoln.

He should be very happy and he deserves praise. And the other members of the Lincoln gun associations should take a deep bow, too.

It's been their interest and hard work that has brought attention to the city, caused the growth of their organizations and brought a great amount of enjoyment to many.

Marksmanship has always been a favorite sport of ours. We used to get a big kick out of viewing action at the old LRPC range. Now the group's got a first-class layout, including steel target frames, covered firing line, and several new buildings.

The fine new layout is one of the reasons the local sharpshooters attracted the Rocky Mountain Regional, sanctioned by the NRA and refereed by an NRA official.

About 120 entries are expected for the three-day affair, including .45, .22 and centerfire matches. Several service groups, as well as top marksmen from the middlewest will be on hand to vie for the trophies, medals and the championships.

The aggregate winner will be awarded a free trip to the Camp Perry, O., national championships.

'The Right Man Did It' Says Winning Loop Head

By JERRY LISKA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"The right man did it!" That was the exclamation of National League President Warren Giles as he thumped Stan Musial on the back for his 12th inning homer which broke up the All-Star game Tuesday.

It also voiced the sentiment of the entire whooping National League dressing room in which Musial completely stole the spotlight.

A jubilant Lippy Durocher, manager of the victorious Nationals, joked that he ordered Musial to hit the decisive homer because he had nearly exhausted his bench.

Only pitcher Luis Arroyo of the St. Louis Cardinals was left for service when Musial stroked his homer off Frank Sullivan's first pitch in the 12th.

Musial accepted wholesale congratulations in a modest fashion, explaining that he was swinging "Just to get on" in the 12th.

"Before that," said Musial who entered the game as a reserve in the fourth inning, "I was really swinging for the fences. I didn't take a vicious cut at Sullivan's pitch in the 12th. It was a fast ball, letter high. But when I connected, I knew it was over the fence."

Durocher, momentarily, was left speechless after his triumphant squad swarmed into the National dressing room.

"It was a wonderful thing, as good a game as you'd want to see."

Then the Lip began warming up oratorically.

"I have had four All-Star squads," said Durocher, "and this one really was something. They were like a bunch of college kids on the bench. When we went four runs down, it didn't squelch them a bit. They kept up bench chatter like a football team."

Durocher explained that he removed Joe Nuxhall, the fifth National pitcher, after the 11th because he had "pitched enough." The Lip explained Nuxhall had pitched in relief Sunday and "did the job we wanted him to do."

"Joe didn't want to go out," said Durocher, "but I convinced him he had done his share after striking out five in more than three innings."

Three Champions At Park Valley

Three Park Valley Golf Tournament championships were decided Tuesday as the annual club meet moved into its last week.

Dick Brandt won the Second Flight on a 4-3 victory over Roger Rhodes.

Larry Rakow defeated Bill Davidson for the Fourth Flight title, 5-4.

Vernon Good captured the Sixth Flight championship on a 4-3 triumph over Larry Sittner.

Remaining flight title matches send Bill Inbody against Duane Nielsen in the Championship Flight, Larry Ebner against Don Wilson in the First and A. J. Mueller against Bill Stockfeld in the Third.

Yogi Berra Very Bitter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It was a bitter and disgusted bunch of players in the American League All-Stars' clubhouse but the most bitter was Yogi Berra and the most disgusted was Whitey Ford, his pitching mate of the New York Yankees.

Most of the athletes were hurriedly getting into their street clothes, anxious to get out of there and board trains or planes for points elsewhere.

Berra, however, was stomping around in front of his locker, muttering under his breath. Ford, who was whacked in the 6-5 12-inning loss to the Nationals, sat disconsolately on his stool, for the most part looking into space.

"They're supposed to be power hitters," grumbled Berra to nobody in particular. "I didn't see any power. All I saw was bloops. Yah, that's what those guys are—a bunch of bloop hitters. They only got one extra base hit—Klu's double—until Musial hit that homer. We gave them the game."

Ford, who yielded the first five runs to the Nationals in one and two thirds innings of pitching, was the most unconsolable.

"I was plain lousy out there today," he chastised himself. "It's too bad Sullivan (Boston's Frank Sullivan) had to be charged with the defeat. He should have been pitching the last three innings instead of me. Then we would have shut them out 5-0."

Optimists Rally To Beat Storz For 18th Victory

By RON GIBSON

Star Sports Staff Member

The Lincoln Optimists came from behind for the second straight night Tuesday to beat Omaha Storz, 6-3, in an American Legion baseball game at Sherman Field. It was Lincoln's 18th win without a loss.

The Optimists continued to hit the ball at a lusty clip, pounding Storz's Al Sigarusa for 11 hits. Storz, the 1954 state champion, got nine hits off Dick (Yogi) Hergenrader but Yogi had good defensive support and was tough with runners on base.

Storz scored twice in the first inning with only one hit, an infield single by leadoff man Jim Blair.

Hergenrader hit two batters and the bases were full when Ely Churchich hit a grounder to third baseman John Douthit. Douthit made a forceout at third but one run scored. Another tally came when Wayne Hester made the only Lincoln error on an attempted forceout.

Hike In Security Benefits, Taxes OKd

House Group Approves Bill

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House Ways and Means Committee, by a vote of 21 to 3, approved Tuesday a bill liberalizing social security benefits and increasing taxes to pay for the new program beginning Jan. 1.

Reps. Mason (R-Ill), Curtis (R-Mo), and Byrnes (R-Wis) voted against the bill which was sponsored by Democratic House leaders.

Chairman Jere Cooper (D-Tenn) said the measure probably will come up before the House Monday.

Survivor Benefits

The bill called for retirement survivor benefits to all women after the age of 62 instead of 65. This would benefit an estimated 800,000 women next year and twice that number in 20 years.

The measure also provides retirement benefits to disabled workers 50 years old or above. Some 300,000 persons would benefit from this next year.

The third provision maintains benefits for disabled children until death, instead of cutting them off at the age of 18.

Expands Coverage

The bill also expands coverage to an additional 220,000 persons. All self-employed professionals except doctors would be brought into the program.

To pay for the increased benefits, the committee voted to raise the social security tax one-half of 1 per cent, effective Jan. 1, for both employers and employes.

The one-half per cent increase would apply to the first $4,200 of income and means that employes will pay $105 in taxes a year, or an increase of $21.

The tax increases scheduled for later years would be moved ahead so that increases of an additional one-half of 1 per cent would go into effect in 1960, 1965, 1970 and 1975.

Cheyenne Wheat Harvest Expected To Begin Soon

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—First cutting of winter wheat in Cheyenne County, Nebraska's premier wheat producer, is expected to come this Friday or Saturday.

That initial harvesting will probably take place on the George Hillman farm, 11 miles south of Lodgepole and almost on the Colorado state line. Hillman has about 170 acres of good-looking wheat just a few days away from the combine's blade.

After that, harvesting in Cheyenne County will gather force with most of the work coming in the last week of this month.

Because of the peculiar weather pattern experienced by the county this spring, harvesting is expected to take more than three weeks to complete, some of it dragging into August on the crop which was struck by hail and is now making a slow recovery.

Reports Say Bing, Texas Beauty To Marry Sept. 10

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Reports were current in Hollywood Tuesday that Bing Crosby and starlet Kathy Grant have set a wedding date for Sept. 10.

The 21-year-old Texas beauty reportedly ordered a wedding gown from Danny Larson, one of Hollywood's leading designers in bridal finery, before she left Hollywood for a Texas personal appearance tour.

Crosby, currently on vacation from screen chores preparing for a salmon fishing trip off the Washington coast this week end, would not comment.

The crooner and Miss Grant have been "going together" more or less steadily for more than a year.

Crosby's wife, Dixie Lee, died several years ago.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

I notice from time to time the headline "Mystery Sniper" in my daily papers. And when I was shoveling coal for the journals, I wrote a number of these fascinating items so that those who ran might read.

A mystery sniper is always good for a couple of paragraphs on Page One. There is something interesting about a person who picks up the rifle and snaps one off at the lady packing groceries down the street.

In the most recent case, I find that mystery sniper has managed to nick five housewives and a moppet. This is alarming to housewives who are burning the toast while waiting for the fateful "ping."

The sniper is using .22 shorts. Not enough to bother you but disturbing if you are not looking. Like a hotfoot.

The carabinieri have been called into the case and are baffled, as we say in the newspapers.

When police are baffled, it becomes the duty of the newspapers (a) to unbaffle them, or; (b) if unable to unbaffle, call for an investigation.

When I was doing this for newspapers, I generally called for an investigation. I didn't know who was shooting. Therefore, we tried to give the impression that any moron could find out — even we could find out if we were not so busy with bigger things.

It is part of the crusading tradition and goes with the $2.50 subscription.

I might add that it is very hard on circulation if somebody goes around puncturing the subscribers and we are against it.

In the case I have been reading about, the job has been turned over to the science editor. This is a new idea and worth considering.

A science editor runs a sort of catch-all for a newspaper. When nobody knows what happens when you take Salk vaccine, he is supposed to write a piece that will neither give you polio nor start a libel suit.

Science editors explain the hydrogen bomb and why beheaded chickens walk around the yard sometimes instead of becoming fricassee.

The science editor in this case has called in a psychiatrist. (Journalistic rule of thumb when the mystery begins to die down: Reach for the nearest head-shrinker.)

The doc said well, it could be a number of things. Might be a guy who hates women. His mama made him to play with jacks when what he wanted to do was rob banks.

Might be a guy who sticks pins in people. He ran out of pins. Might be a guy who is really two guys.

The doctor said all this is fancy language which I have decoded. I am not a science editor and do not care to work another man's dodge.

This is the baffling case of the Phantom Sniper. And if the cops do not grab their boy pretty soon, I expect the next step will be to ask for resignations from the captain on down. After all when we get our science editors to get them started and then they goof — well, it's time for a change.

Personally, I used to write these sniper cases. But I never really believed in them.

If I were looking for the phantom, I would look around the neighborhood for a small boy with a new .22.

I remember my own youth and a Daisy air rifle. And while I grew up normally with one head and am fond of women and rarely can find a pin when I lose a shirtbutton, I still remember the fascination of a moving target just getting out of range.

Life was depressing for the cats on our block.

I grew up with no desire to puncture my fellow man. Though I am tried at times by singing commercials and income tax forms.

However, I seldom pass very young gentlemen with air rifles without a shrinking feeling in the back of my neck and an impulse to step on the gas.

I know perfectly well I am more fascinating at this moment than a clay pigeon. You don't have to be a science editor or a man with two heads to know that.

ITS ULTRAMODERN DESIGN SNAGS ACADEMY'S FUNDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The purse string committee of the House came out Tuesday against spending any more money at the new Air Force Academy until all concerned agree on what it should look like.

A row over the design of the Colorado Springs project has seethed in Congress ever since proposed ultramodern models for some of its buildings were undraped.

The 125-million-dollar academy, was dedicated Monday.

Tuesday the House was urged by its Appropriations Committee to stop further construction, by withholding money, until the institution's architecture "is more firmly established."

The committee disapproved 79 million dollars for the academy. It also recommended against using for construction any funds left from 15 million previously appropriated.

The committee, noting the furor which broke when preliminary designs were exhibited some weeks ago, suggested that Secretary of Air Talbott talk things over with the Fine Arts Commission.

'Canning Factory'

Testimony released Tuesday from earlier hearings disclosed this comment from Rep. Whitten (D-Miss) after scrutinizing the original models:

"Frankly, looking at the picture, it looks like a new canning factory."

John O. Merrill, a partner in the Chicago firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill designing the academy, has insisted the plans are well adapted to its site in the Colorado mountains.

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, has said that in design the academy resembles "a birdmen's factory."

Sen. Robertson (D-Va) once said photos of a model for the chapel gave the appearance of "an assembly of wigwams."

WARM QUEEN SWINGS SWORD

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II perspired through an 80-minute ceremony at Buckingham Palace Tuesday.

In the middle of London's hot spell, she had to knight or pin decorations on 200 of her subjects, including Roger Bannister, Britain's four minute mile man.

More than 1,000 persons thronged a palace ballroom in 90-degree temperatures. Six king-size chandeliers and 22 smaller ones added to the heat.

Her Size

An attendant handed the queen a sword, almost as long as she was tall.

She touched the first kneeling man on his right shoulder and then quickly on his left.

For 20 minutes Queen Elizabeth kept swinging the sword, creating 60 knights. Then came the decorations.

Bannister was designated a commander in the Order of the British Empire.

8TH ARMY OFFICERS' CLUBS SHUT DOOR TO KOREA GIRLS

SEOUL (Wednesday) (AP) — U. S. 8th Army officers' clubs are quietly shutting their doors to Korean cuties after getting the word from Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, acting Army commander.

An Army spokesman said the unwritten rule was ordered "to eliminate an undesirable situation which was getting entirely out of hand."

Courting Girls

Officers have been courting hundreds of Korean girls.

Business fell off sharply last week in the clubs. Two clubs closed permanently.

Officer reaction was mixed. Some thought the ban would cause morale to sag. Others said it would end an embarrassing situation which found some married officers openly dating Korean girls.

Enlisted men's clubs so far have been spared, but they may be next. As the spokesman phrased it, Collier felt "the officers should first set the example."

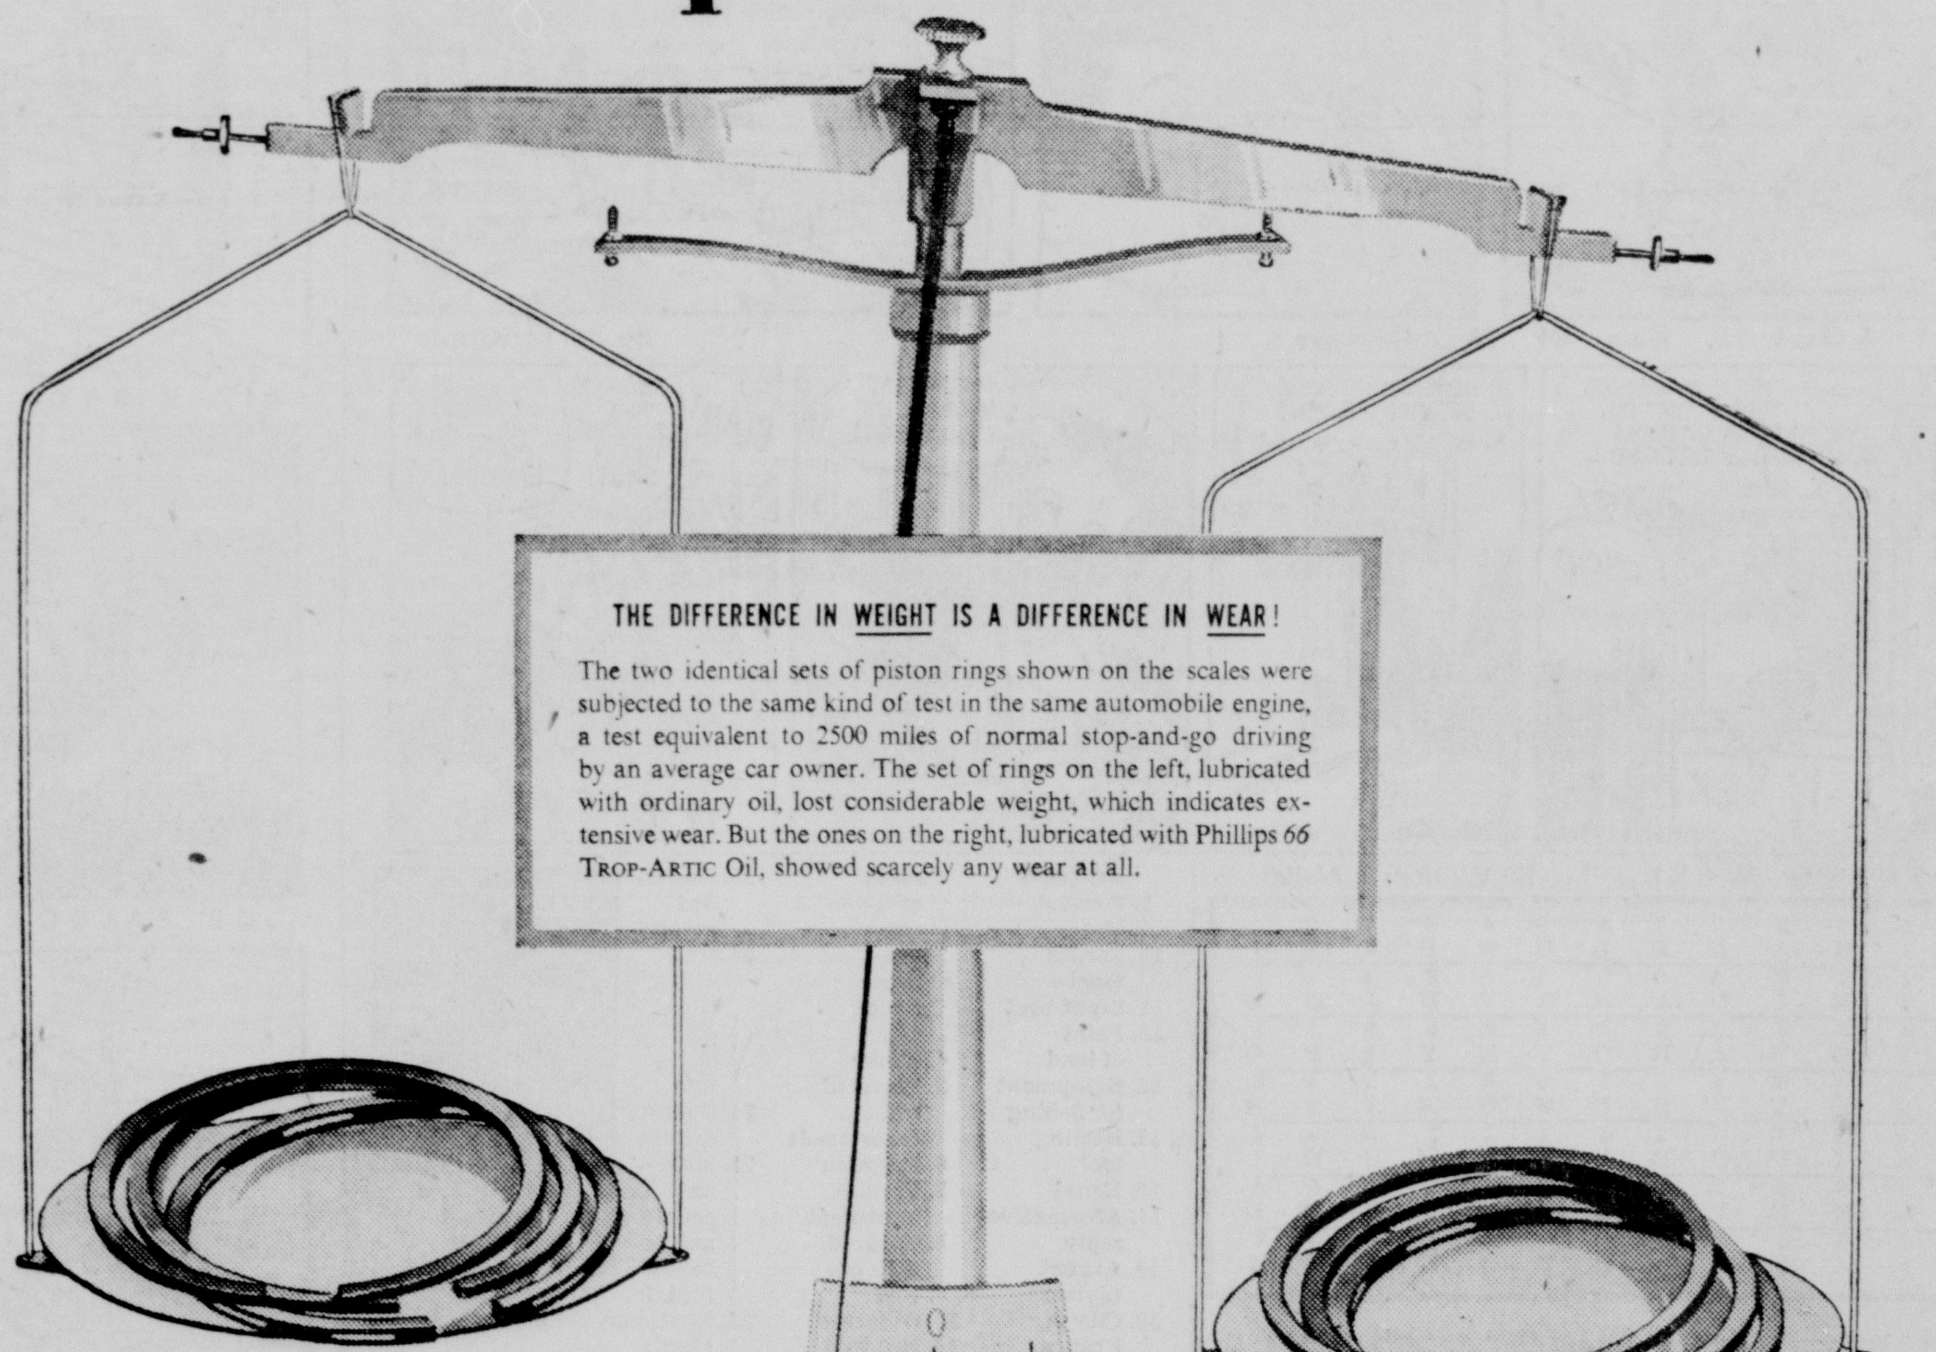
Engine Wear Reduced 40% with New Trop-Artic Motor Oil



THE DIFFERENCE IN WEIGHT IS A DIFFERENCE IN WEAR!

The two identical sets of piston rings shown on the scales were subjected to the same kind of test in the same automobile engine, a test equivalent to 2500 miles of normal stop-and-go driving by an average car owner. The set of rings on the left, lubricated with ordinary oil, lost considerable weight, which indicates extensive wear. But the ones on the right, lubricated with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic Oil, showed scarcely any wear at all.

IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

The difference in piston ring wear illustrated above proves an important point about the performance of motor oils:

Most engine wear occurs when you first start your car or under stop-and-go driving conditions with an engine that hasn't warmed up. It takes a very special kind of oil to flow quickly and protect your motor when you start, and then to protect moving parts from sludge and varnish after the engine heats up. Trop-Artic All-Weather Motor Oil gives you this double protection. It won't get too thick, nor too thin. That's why, compared to older types of oils, it can even double engine life.

In a motor oil it's performance that counts. And Trop-Artic gives super performance all year around! You'll get easier starting . . . you'll save gasoline . . . and you can save 15% to 45% on oil consumption. Prove it for yourself! Get Trop-Artic Motor Oil from your Phillips 66 Dealer.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

We've had wars to end wars. But we never had a conference to end conferences.

Molotov's speech at San Francisco didn't help any more than pushing on a rope.

Molly got off on the wrong foot and did a jig.

Shooting down our plane over Bering Strait was another neighborly gimmick that helped like poisoned bait in a pet shop.

But we tossed that one off as a caper of a trigger-happy Russian pilot. When Molly explained it was the kid's birthday it squared everything like a slug in a telephone coin box.

We're going into this thing with our minds open as an oyster at a banquet.

But we know that any proposition to scrap the fissionated blister is a welcome mat on a trapdoor.

The ball opens next Monday high in the Alps. The Russian delegation will be roped together by objections. And will be wearing their hob-nailed negatives.

The sure-footed Molotov will take the first ankle excursion to the hospitable exit.

Robert H. Ammon Takes Post On School Board Replacing Jay

ROBERT AMMON

Robert H. Ammon, president of Cushman Motor Works since 1950, has been appointed to the Lincoln Board of Education.

Ammon, 38, fills the vacancy left by Richard A. Jay, whose resignation was accepted Tuesday by the Board "with deep regret."

Jay has been named to a new position at Akron, O., with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and expects to leave Lincoln July 15. He has been manager of the Lincoln Goodyear plant.

Ammon's appointment is "for the balance of the school year or until his successor is duly elected and qualified," according to Willis Hecht, the board's attorney.

Hecht explained that Ammon would probably serve as an appointed member until the Spring of 1957 when a regular school board election would be held.

Nebraska Native

School elections have coincided with regular city elections, but the Board could decide upon an earlier election. Jay had been elected to a six-year term after filling a board vacancy by appointment.

Ammon was born in David City, but has lived in Lincoln since he was eight. He attended Lincoln schools and was graduated from the University of Nebraska with a degree in electrical engineering in 1939.

During World War II , he served with the Corps of Engineers and later the Air Force from 1941 to 1946, rising to rank of captain. He is married and has a nine-year-old son. The family resides at 1261 Fall Creek Rd.

In addition to being president of Cushman Motor Works, Ammon is vice president of Woodcraft, Inc., and of the Metalcraft Engineering Co.

He is a director of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, of the National Bank of Commerce, and of the Nebraska Post of the American Ordinance Association.

Drought May Be Cause Of Grains Assessment Drop

Letters from county assessors to State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington indicate that decreases listed in many county tax schedules are due to a drop in wheat and corn production because of drought conditions last year.

A few assessors reported that grain valuations were up from last year since they had obtained lists of grain owners who have warehouse receipts from Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation local offices.

In regard to personal property tax schedules, one assessor said he had "observed that the young married people and young veterans turn in the best schedules, perhaps because they haven't caught on to cheating as did the old timers."

The letters explaining the increases and decreases were requested of all county assessors by the State Board of Equalization.

Central Press Meet Slated At Grand Island

Editors from the Nebraska Press Association's Central District will hold their annual meeting in Grand Island Saturday with the Grand Island Daily Independent as the host newspaper.

Attendance of about 100 is expected, according to Vern Scofield, executive secretary of the state association.

Golf and tours of the Grand Island Independent plant are on the morning schedule. Main speaker at a noon luncheon will be Carl Dietemeyer of Lincoln, managing editor of the Nebraska Farmer whose wife recently was named Mrs. America. His topic: "I'm Just Mrs. America's Husband."

Others on the noon program will be Walter Lauritsen, president of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce, and F. H. Vandegrift, general manager of the Independent.

New officers will be elected at an afternoon business session. A theater party for ladies and children in the afternoon, and a 4:30 p.m. hospitality hour also are scheduled.

Officers of the central group include John Stuart, St. Paul Phonograph, president; Cliff Buckendorf, Bassett Rock County Leader, vice president; Ed Apking, Ord Quiz, secretary-treasurer. W. H. Plourd of Fullerton and Clyde Taylor of Lexington are board members.

County Delays Action On PBX Switchboard

After discussing the advantages and disadvantages of a 10 or 14-trunk line PBX switchboard for the Lancaster County Courthouse, the County Board deferred any action on the proposed installation for further study.

The Board agreed to discuss the proposal again during budget hearings beginning next week after conferring with office and department heads.

Commissioner Del Lienemann, who proposed the PBX installation, said the county would save $100 a month in phone bills, but agreed $1,200 a year additionally would be spent for a switchboard operator.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele told the board he had worked in office with a PBX board and that "people can get more irritated by a switchboard set up, than caused by individual office lines."

Chairman Russell Brehm said the Board should make sure that "better service could be given with a PBX board and warrant the additional cost."

Trailer Courts Get County OK

The Lancaster County Board has approved 1955 annual permits for five trailer courts in the county under its new trailer court code.

Approval was granted subject to compliance with the recommendations of the city-county health department and county building inspector and the holding of valid zoning permits by the courts.

Recommended changes are described as minor and court owners have promised cooperation, according to Commissioner Del Lienemann.

Approved were:

Sunlight Trailer Court, 1724 West O.

Bon Aire Trailer Ranch, 3100 No. 35th.

West O Trailer Court, 400-430 NW 1st Ave.

Tom Thumb Trailer Court, 2401 West O.

Rainbow Trailer Court, 1801 Adams.

Lienemann said additional permit applications are under study. Annual licensing date is July 1.

Experiment Work Pleases Watkins

Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins was "extremely well-pleased" with the high quality of work done by Lincoln High School students participating in the experimental "High School-College Courses."

The Board was advised by a written report that a total of 40 juniors and seniors took the college-level courses, some of them taking up to nine college credit hours. Three students took more than one course.

Watkins believes the project will eventually lead to "exceptional students" earning up to 32 credit-hours while in high school, enabling them to enter college at the sophomore level.

Board Approves School Contracts

Contracts awarded by the School Board for various school expenses included:

Auditorium ventilation system for Sheridan School to Bonebright Heating and Air Conditioning, $3,922, as lowest of three bidders.

Laundry service for 1955-56 school year to Paramount Laundry and Cleaners, Inc., who was sole bidder.

Garbage and refuse service, Frederick Kehn, $315 per month.

Coal contracts, J. H. Yost Lumber Company and Comet Coal Company.

Milk and dairy products, equal business to Beatrice Foods, Fairmont Foods, Lincoln Dairy and Ice Cream, and Roberts Dairy, on identical price quotations.

Wm. Sieloff Dies

William Sieloff, 76, of Lincoln, died at a local hospital Tuesday evening. He is survived by his wife, Gertrude, of Palo Alto, Calif.

Most Of Teachers Have Been Hired

Teaching positions in the Lincoln public schools have been filled in the secondary grades and with two exceptions for elementary grades, according to Dr. Steven N. Watkins, superintendent of schools.

Two reassignments in school administrative posts were approved by the Board.

Inez Baker, former assistant principal at Clinton School, has been assigned to the position of teaching principal at Eastridge School.

Mrs. Ruth Rogers, former teacher at Irving Junior High School, has been reassigned as assistant principal at Irving.

School Board OKs Plan For Opening Street

The Lincoln School Board has directed a request to the City Council that its unimproved 20-acre school site on South 56th between Normal and Lillibridge be included in any improvement district for the opening of Normal Boulevard from 57th eastward.

In line with the request, the school tract would also be incorporated into the city.

Atty. John Binning, representing a Lincoln home builder, said Normal is proposed as a 100-foot wide street from 56th and that approximately a 50-foot strip of school land would have to be dedicated for road purposes.

Paving of Normal from 56th is not comtemplated until sometime next year, Binning said. The development would open 58th and 60th, but leave 57th as a dead end street.

Homes are already under construction and a number of lots have been sold in the area, Binning said.

Opinion Asked On Bank Tax Refund Claims

Two tax refund claims, arising out of a Supreme Court decision on the taxation of bank and investment loan stock, have been referred by the Lancaster County Board to the County Attorney for an opinion.

Martell State Bank asks a refund of $757.40 and the Security Investment Co., of Martell, $138.62.

The Supreme Court ruled last December that such property cannot be taxed at a higher rate than other property classes. This property had been previously assessed at 8 mills.

Firms which paid under protest received refunds and those withholding payment, received a tax bill reduced by one-half.

The two Martell institutions paid the tax without protest and the county attorney's office is being asked if the money can now legally be refunded.

County Pay Day Now Month End

Pay day for Lancaster County employees will be the last day of the month in the future.

Previously monthly wages have been disbursed on the last Friday of each month, but the Lancaster County Board had directed the change.

The Board said some employees in the past had taken advantage of the Friday pay day when quitting the county's employment. After drawing their monthly check, they failed to work the remaining days of the month.

It was also pointed out that a Friday pay day also caused a five-week lapse between pay checks about every three or four months. End-of-the-month paydays would be to the advantage of employees, the Board said.

The employees will be paid on the last day of the month unless the day falls on a Sunday in which case the pay checks will be issued Saturday.

Chess Tourney Set For All Under 21

The U.S. Junior Champion Chess Tournament sponsored by the Lincoln Chess Club and the U.S. Chess Federation will be held in Lincoln July 15-24 at the YMCA.

The winner will receive a prize worth $75. Nine other prizes will be awarded. Anyone under 21 is eligible to enter.

Registrations must be received no later than noon July 14.

Approximately 40 players from throughout the United States are expected to attend the national tournament.

Trade Tools Taken In Tow

Det. Joe Harbaugh looks over burglars tools taken from two men early Tuesday morning by Lincoln Police. A bottle containing what initial reports identitified as nitro-glycerin was found among the effects, along with a loaded .38 calibre revolver. The men will probably be arraigned in County Court Wednesday for possession of burglar's tools. (Star Staff Photo.)

Burglar Tool Possession Charge Likely For Pair

Charges of possession of burglary tools will probably be filed in County Court Wednesday against two men, one from Lincoln, after the two were picked up for investigation early Tuesday morning.

The charges will be filed against the pair giving the names of Curtis Guy Barnes, 45, who gave the address of 2328 So. 15th, and Charles C. Robinson, formerly of North Platte, according to police.

Robinson, known as "Blackie," at one time was arraigned and consequently served a prison term with Frank Ellsworth, a friend of Kenneth Kitts, famed bank robber, the authorities said.

Served Time

Both Robinson and Ellsworth, who last Monday was released with $87,000 in Las Vegas, Nev., after investigation, served time in Leavenworth on robbery charges, police said.

Police Patrolmen Virgil Campbell and Art Aksamit stopped the pair at 40th and Sheridan at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning after the two were seen cruising slowly around the area.

Asst. Chief Eugene Masters said a "shakedown" of the car showed the following items: a bottle of liquid believed to be nitro-glycerin, a sledge hammer, a loaded .38 calibre revolver, cotton and adhesive tape, used with nitro-glycerin in blowing safes, and other safe-cracking tools, including a crowbar and heavy screwdrivers.

Omaha Checked

Masters said the two are also being checked for investigation into a safe robbery Monday night at Omaha where one of the two men wore a mask.

Police said Barnes is on conditional release from Leavenworth where he was recently paroled.

An initial report from the state testing laboratory at the Capitol two jars found on the men contained nitro-glycerin. A final test was scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Claim Denied After Car Hits Tree In Ditch

The Lancaster County Board has denied a $143.02 claim of Don Wunderlich of Rt. 1 Lincoln for damage to his car when the vehicle struck a tree trunk.

The trunk was described as located in a ditch on a county road three miles south and a half-mile west of the State hospital, but clear of the traveled portion of the road.

Wunderlich said he was going around a parked car on the road when his car collided with the trunk. He admitted the road was wide enough for two cars, but that he had given the parked car "plenty of clearance."

County Engineer Louis Weaver said he didn't think the tree trunk created a dangerous road hazard. "It's clear of the traveled-portion of the road."

Wunderlich said it was the first time he had been over the road since coming home on furlough and thought the county partially responsible for the accident.

Weaver said the trunk was laid over in the ditch when the road was graded-up several months ago. He said the trunk would be burned when dry enough.

Oil Expansion Attempt Fails

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Another attempt to expand oil production in Morrill County has failed.

British-American Oil Co. has plugged the Bonner No. 1, a northern extension of the Juelfs Field in Cheyenne County. B-A also abandoned the Foster No. 1, a Farr Pool confirmation hole in Cheyenne County.

At the present time, the only oil production in Morrill County comes from the four-well Hart Field, north of Dalton. That pool is a modest producer but it is sufficient to establish Morrill behind Kimball, Cheyenne and Banner as the Panhandle's oil counties.

Stock Mart Runs Into Late Selling

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market ran into late selling Tuesday and slipped back from its best after a promising start.

The decline erased enough of the early gains to bring about a mixed close. Outside of a handful of wide moving issues, most changes were within a $2 range.

Sears Roebuck, unusually strong in recent sessions because of split rumors, dropped back sharply Tuesday to a low of 98½ after directors declared the usual dividend.

Steels, motors and rails were well ahead at one time, but at the close motors were up, steels mixed and rails down.

Aircrafts and chemicals also were lower. Coppers ended mixed. Radio-televisions were higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 10 cents at $175.20. It was ahead $1.30 Monday.

The industrial component lost 70 cents, railroads were down 10 cents, while utilities were up 50 cents at a new high since 1931 of $74.50.

Volume expanded to 2,630,000 shares from 2,420,000 shares traded Monday.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 820,000 shares as compared with 740,000 shares traded Monday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK—The bond market was narrowly mixed Tuesday, with selected rails and utilities in demand.

U.S. government obligations were irregular.

Transactions in bonds on the "Big Board" amounted to $4,600,000 par value, compared with $4,570,000 Monday.

In new financing, the New York state comptroller has rejected the only bid for 125 million dollars of state guaranteed thruway bonds. The lone bidder named a net interest cost of 2.7892 per cent.

Comptroller Arthur D. Levitt said he was postponing the financing until "a more advantageous time."

The cost of municipal borrowings has headed higher in recent weeks, partly as a result of a heavy supply of tax exempt issues.

Ex-Lincolnite Lands Plane After Blast

ST. PAUL, Minn. — An ex-Lincolnite, now an Air Force jet pilot, cooly guided his damaged fighter back to a safe landing despite an engine which exploded and tore a large hole in the plane.

Lt. Randall Renken, 26, a graduate of Lincoln High School and an ex-NU student, is flight leader in the 337th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron based at Wold-Chamberlain Field near St. Paul.

Lt. Renken and his radar observer were flying at 500 mph, the Associated Press reported, when they heard an explosion.

"The plane started vibrating terribly and smoke began to fill the cockpit," Lt. Renken said. "I knew we had a fire in the ship."

He took the plane to 10,000 feet, determined where the trouble was, and put the fire out with the automatic extinguisher.

He landed without trouble, admitted he was "glad to be on the ground," and nonchalantly went bowling.

Lt. Renken lists his parents home at LeMars, Ia., as his home. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Renken.

Gunmen Hold Up Oklahoma Bank

MOORE, Okla. (INS) — Two well-dressed gunmen robbed the First National Bank at Moore of between $10,000 and $12,000 Tuesday and escaped in a waiting car.

J. K. Griffith, vice president of the bank, said the men, both believed in their late 20s, cleaned all the money from three cash drawers and took billfolds of 10 persons in the bank.

The 10, including four employes, were forced to lie on the floor of a back office while the robbers worked.

Russians Offer Their German Unity Plan

...European Collective Security System Urged

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Tuesday night that the problem of restoring German unity be approached through a European collective security system. The Russians warned that any attempt to involve Germany in a military alliance "leads to an increased threat of a new war."

The Kremlin issued the statement six days in advance of the summit conference of the Big Four at Geneva, and at the end of an important full meeting of the Soviet Communist party Central Committee. The committee, among other things, discussed the convening of the 20th Congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union.

Both Could Join

The statement, issued through the official news agency Tass, proposed that a European collective security system could be joined by both West and Communist East Germany and that all European states could participate, "irrespective of their social and political differences."

The statement rejected any plan which would countenance a choice by a unified Germany of joining the Western military alliance. It added that it was obvious the Western powers in their turn would reject any proposal which envisaged joining a unified Germany to the Warsaw agreement, which set up a sort of Communist bloc NATO.

"The U.S.S.R. opposes the policy of reviving German militarism and involving West Germany, or a reunited Germany, in any military groups," said the statement, "not because it fears a militarist united Germany, but because such a policy leads to an increased threat of a new war.

Great Destruction Seen

"The new war, if it were to break out, would cause enormous and uprecedented human sacrifices and material destruction. In a modern war when new, formerly nonexistent types of weapons of mass destruction have appeared—atomic, hydrogen, guided and others — it is obvious that not a single country taking part in the war could escape enormous destruction and human sacrifice. However, hardly anyone can doubt that the greatest danger of a new war would be for Germany. Germany would be in the center of military operations with all the ensuing disasters for the German people."

Aurora OKs School Bonds

Lincoln Star Special

AURORA, Neb. — After two previous defeats, a proposal for a new Aurora High School was approved Tuesday by voters here.

The $490,000 bond issue was approved by a vote of 768 for to 495 against. This was 74 votes more than the required 55 per cent majority.

The bond issue in this election was somewhat modified from the $550,000 issue proposed in the two earlier elections.

A large redistricting program in the Aurora area has resulted in crowded conditions, necessitating additional facilities, a spokesman explained.

Tuesday's turnout of voters was estimated about a fourth less than in the previous elections.

Scottsbluff Funds Are Running Short

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — The cost of rehabilitation of tornado victims here will be definitely many times greater than the amount contributed locally so far. The balance of needed funds will come from the National Red Cross.

Miss Alice Gillen, head of Red Cross disaster workers, here, revealed that Tuesday.

"I cannot give any figures," she said.

Local contributions Tuesday night stood at $7,513.98.

Red Cross funds will be used to restore the "basic" needs of victims.

"But victims will be expected to do as much as they can to help themselves," Miss Gillen added.

No Spending Boost Seen By Governor

Carryover Beats Unicam Estimate

Gov. Victor Anderson does not believe unexpended balances in various funds in excess of the Legislature's estimate of the July 1 carryover will mean increased spending during the new biennium.

Figures prepared by the tax commissioner's office show that the amount carried over by various departments from what they could have spent during the 1953-55 period was $28,998,178.

Re-Appropriated

Most of this was re-appropriated to the respective departments for the 1955-57 biennium.

The actual carryover was several million dollars more than the Legislature had figured.

From Chicago, where he is attending a convention, Gov. Anderson commented that the larger-than-expected balances "indicate there is no tendency among department heads to spend money simply because it is available to them."

"Any additional funds available to the various departments (in the new biennium) due to under-estimating the unexpended balances should be regarded as a saving and should not be spent except in case of an actual necessity," the governor added.

3 State Spending Records Broken

Figures prepared for the final state financial report of the old biennium which ended June 30 contain three new records.

Nebraska spent $9,099,080 in June the highest figure for a single month's spending in history.

This brought the total for the biennium to $176,232,432

In the twelve months ending June 30, expenditures totalled $93,192,660.

Spending for the fiscal year and the biennium both reached record highs.

The amount available for spending by state agencies in the 1953-55 biennium was $205,230,610.

The amount budgeted by the 1953 Legislature was 197,402,441. A larger carryover from the 1951-53 beennium than anticipated, and rising revenue from gasoline tax and other sources as the result of the booming economy resulted in the "bulge."

Since expenditures in the biennium just ended totalled only $176,232,432, the total unexpended balance in all funds this time amounted to nearly $29,000,000.
